GERMANY YIELDS TO UNITED STATES IN LUSITANIA CASE

Administration Officials Consider That Principles Contended For Are Recognized in Tentative Proposal From Berlin.

MINOR CHANGES ASKED TO CLARIFY THE WORDING

In Teuton Circles No Difficulty Is Anticipated Over Proposed Changes—Formal Agreement Is Expected in the Next Few Days.

Washington, February 8.—In substance the tentative communication from Germany, designed to settle the Lusitania case, is acceptable to the United States. High administration officials tonight consider that this government, in prevailing upon Germany to make the concessions and agreements set forth in the document, has achieved recognition of all the high principles for which it has contended in connection with submarine warfare.

While the substance of the proposed communication admittedly is satisfactory, minor changes to clarify the wording and in connection with the form which the formal document shall take were suggested today to Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, by Secretary Lansing. The desires of the United States in this connection were made known to the ambassador after President Wilson had discussed the subject with his cabinet. Count von Bernstorff immediately informed the secretary that he saw no reason why the changes could not be made, but explained that, as a precaution, he would submit the entire matter to his government for final approval. He did so in a dispatch sent to Berlin tonight, and within about six days the resulting formal communication is expected.

Specific Statement Wanted.

Secretary Lansing insists, it is stated by high authority, that it shall be stated specifically in the communication that it is in answer to the American note regarding the Lusitania. This and changes deemed necessary to clarify certain portions of the document, administration officials thought Count von Bernstorff himself would be able to make. The ambassador, however, decided not to change even the punctuation of the document without his government's approval. He had not deemed it necessary, it is said, to include the statement that the communication was in answer to the American note, considering that the same end would be accomplished by submitting it in the form of a memorandum.

The ambassador as yet does not know whether his government wants him to sign the formal note or whether it is desired to have the secretary of foreign affairs to do so. This phase also has been submitted to Berlin.

Assurances were received in high diplomatic and official circles that the changes of wording suggested would not in any sense alter the meaning. No modifications, it was authoritatively stated, were suggested in connection with the phrase substituted for the word "illegal," which the German government was unwilling to use.

No Difficulty Anticipated.

In Teutonic diplomatic circles not the slightest difficulty over the proposed changes is anticipated. It is said Berlin officials probably will immediately authorize them. Apparently some of the changes consist merely of substituting one word for another, changing the position of one phrase of a sentence without changing even the words, and striking out words, which, in their translation from German to English, make the language unusual.

Developments came rapidly today. Secretary Lansing went to the white house an hour before the time set for the cabinet meeting to discuss with the president in detail the tentative communication and analyze the meaning of the words employed. When the cabinet met, the proposal was submitted by the president.

Later Count von Bernstorff, who had requested an appointment, was called to the state department by Secretary Lansing. The two remained closeted in the secretary's office for more than

ACCUSES COUNCIL OF CHILDISHNESS

Mayor Will Veto Finance Sheet Second Time When It Goes to Him—Usual Procedure Not Followed.

The action of council in repassing the January finance sheet Monday afternoon immediately after the veto of the mayor had been sustained, is causing much discussion in local political circles.

Members of council who voted to sustain the mayor say that council should have adopted the usual parliamentary procedure, after sustaining the veto of an executive, which is to either refer the paper back to the original committee or appoint a special committee to confer with the executive.

The finance sheet was passed by council in exactly the same shape as it had been formerly passed and vetoed. The presumption, they say, is that the mayor can do nothing but veto the sheet again. If council again sustains the mayor, as it is very likely to do, and council adopts the procedure they did on Monday and again pass the sheet without any change, the game of municipal ping-pong can be carried on ad infinitum.

Council can keep on saying:

"It is up to the mayor."

The mayor can keep on saying:

"It is up to the council."

And nobody will get anywhere.

When asked about the action of council, Mayor Woodward said Tuesday morning:

"I don't believe that any business man will stand for anything like the child's play of which council was guilty. If the finance sheet had been sent back to the finance committee something could have been done to get the city's finances in shape. As it is, nothing has been accomplished and will not be unless the sheet is made to conform to the city charter. What we want to do is to get together for the good of the city and the whole city and not for this or that ward."

The finance sheet—the same old finance sheet—will go to the aldermanic board Thursday afternoon. If it is concurred in, the paper for the second time goes to the mayor and he will very likely for the second time veto it.

The aldermanic board can non-concur, and if this is done, the paper goes back to council when a conference committee can be appointed and the whole matter discussed with the mayor.

Talks of the Democrats Related to Republicans By Telephone Operator

Washington, February 8.—A telephone operator on the capitol switchboard was suspended from duty today following charges made by Representative Neely, of West Virginia, in the democratic caucus last night, that private conversations of democratic congressmen were being reported to republicans. Mr. Neely said that among other conversations of his which "leaked" was one regarding proposed impeachment charges against a West Virginia federal judge.

Two-Button Sack Coats With Drapery Over Hips For the Men This Spring

St. Louis, February 8.—Single-breasted, two-button sack coats, with drapery over the hips, is the proper style for men's wear this spring, according to designs exhibited at the convention of the National Association of Merchant Tailors, which opened here today.

Double-breasted coats are to have peak lapels and both single and double-breasted will follow natural lines. Extensive padding will be avoided.

Scotch plaid is to be a popular pattern.

An extreme model in evening dress was exhibited by one designer, who showed a wine-colored coat. With the coat goes a lavender vest.

Outing coats are to have two pleats in the back running over the shoulder.

In summer clothing designs of seersucker coats weighing eight ounces were shown, and also a fawn-colored coat with white buttons.

The sleeves this summer and spring are to be small, with a button at the cuff. Trousers will follow the conformation of the leg, but will not be tight.

Frock coats of green cloth with a wide red stripe were displayed. Patterns of large checks were prominent in the display and green was a prominent color.

A novelty was an overcoat weighing one pound—said to be both rain and cold proof.

Of the many designs on exhibit, not a suit cost less than $125. The one-pound overcoat cost $125.

LOOK FOR THE TRADE-MARK

All worthy things are imitated. The old saying that "Imitation is the sincerest flattery" does not apply to manufacturing ethics. A manufacturer who produces a worthy article, establishes its value, spends thousands upon thousands of dollars putting it on the market and creating a consumer demand through advertising, finally invites the inevitable competitor.

His success creates envy; his sales foster imitations. The imitator, however, usually has a pretty hard row to hoe. The original producer has firmly entrenched his wares through public confidence, honestly won by virtue of the merit of his wares. His goods bear a fixed trade-mark. This trade-mark is the buyer's inviolable protection against substitution. There are a score or more of trade-marks in this country, each one of which a million dollars cash could not buy; some amongst them, many times a million could not buy. Each one of these trade-marks stands for a success; and successes are rarely, if ever, for sale. These trade-marks are legion. You will find them on silk, clothing, shoes, furniture, remedies, household utensils, mattresses, stoves, hats, rugs, silverware, stationery and hundreds of other things too numerous to mention. Hundreds of these articles are advertised in The Constitution. Trade-marked, advertised articles, without an exception, are always safe things to buy. The acid test of time and proven value of wear or utility has been unquestionably established.

KAISER'S CONSULS UNDER INDICTMENT AS BOMB PLOTTERS

Bopp and Von Schack Accused at San Francisco. Turkey's Consul General Has Also Been Indicted.

USE OF MAILS ALLEGED TO INCITE TO MURDER

Government Charges German Agents Were Sent to Canada to Destroy Bridges and Tunnels—Woman Is Involved.

Washington, February 8.—Weeks of investigation by department of justice agents resulted today in the voting of indictments by a federal grand jury in San Francisco against prominent figures in what are considered here to be two of the boldest plots involving questions of American neutrality that have been uncovered since the European war began.

Among those against whom indictments were voted, according to a message received here, are Franz Bopp, German consul general; Baron E. H. von Schack, vice consul of Germany, and Maurice Hall, the Turkish consul general.

No Immunity for Consuls.

Consular officers do not enjoy the diplomatic immunities which ambassadors, ministers and attaches are given by international law, but are subject to the jurisdiction of the country in which they are resident and may be treated by the law as are any other persons. The indictments voted today, however, are the first which the federal government has attempted to secure against any foreign representatives. This fact was taken to mean that hereafter the administration intends to prosecute wherever prosecution will lie, any offender against American neutrality.

Bopp and Von Schack are charged with complicity in the plot which was first uncovered several weeks ago with the arrest of C. C. Crowley, alleged to be a pro-German agent who had undertaken to cripple the American output of munitions of war, and in other ways to help the cause of the Teutonic allies. Bopp is accused of being the head of a conspiracy which hoped to accomplish this end by interfering with trade in munitions and preventing railway shipments by blowing up two tunnels.

Under the Sherman Law.

The German officials are being proceeded against under the Sherman anti-trust act in connection with their alleged activities against American plants and under a section of the penal code aimed at the setting on foot of military expeditions against a friendly nation in connection with plans to blow up Canadian railway tunnels.

The indictment of the Turkish consul general was voted in connection with the use of the steamer Sacramento to supply German ships of war in the South Pacific, which ended in the internment of that vessel by the Chilean government many months ago. According to officials here the Sacramento case is one of the clearest that has come to their notice of the use of an American port as a base of supplies for belligerent warships and of false clearance papers to get the supply ship past the customs authorities.

32 INDICTMENTS RETURNED IN ALL.

San Francisco, February 8.—News from Washington of the news of voted indictments against consular officers here of the German government, anticipated by at least two days the prospect of a report from the federal grand jury. Officials admitted that among those against whom indictments have been voted are included the following:

Franz Bopp, consul general for Germany; Baron F. H. von Schack, vice consul for Germany; Henry W. E. Kauffmann, chancellor of the German consulate; Maurice H. Hall, consul general for Turkey; Fred Jebsen, former owner of the steamer Mazatlan; Johannes H. von Koolbergen, alleged agent of the German consulate; Dr. Simon Reimer, said to be a German naval officer, and "Frederick Williams," thought to be a fictitious name.

There were in all thirty-two indictments voted charging violations of neutrality. Five of these, having to do with bomb plotting, include the names of Bopp and Von Schack, it is understood.

Three of the bomb plot indictments are new charges against Baron George Wilhelm von Brincken, an attache of the German consulate; C. C. Crowley, a detective, and Mrs. Margaret Cornell, an investigator, who, with Crowley, was employed by Bopp, according to the charges. These persons, already under indictment accused of conspiring to destroy commerce and to use the mails to incite to murder, arson and assassination, are, according to District Attorney Preston, charged with violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, and conspiring to send a military expedition from the United States.

Destroyed Tunnels in Canada.

It is charged that German agents operated in Canada in the destruction of the tunnels and bridges to such an extent that their alleged acts come under the head of those of a military expedition. Von Koolbergen is said to have been one of these agents.

Alleged violation of the Sherman law has to do with restrictions of interstate commerce, which the government charges Bopp, Von Schack, Crowley, Mrs. Cornell and Von Brincken conspired to effect.

It is in connection with the alleged purchase of ships and their discharge to German cruisers in Chilean waters by the steamer Sacramento that Turkish Consul Hall is said to have been indicted. Preston said Hall signed the checks for the purchase of the cargo of the Sacramento.

Dr. Reimer, whose whereabouts is unknown, and "Frederick Williams" are also thought to be connected with

GORDON ACQUITTED BY POLICE BOARD

Report of Efficiency Committee Is Accepted—Several Changes Are Made. Committee Is Commended.

The trial of Patrolman James L. Gordon, charged with conduct unbecoming an officer, and the report of Chairman A. R. King's efficiency committee were the two features of last night's meeting of the board of police commissioners. Patrolman Gordon was exonerated of charges against him, while Chairman King's report was accepted and thanks returned by the board for the work of his committee.

Patrolman Gordon was charged with conduct unbecoming an officer at the corner of Whitehall and Mitchell streets, November 27, 1915, in arresting a negro chauffeur, Arthur Parks, in the employ of George M. Brown.

According to the prosecution, Officer Gordon arrested the negro after the latter had refused to drive the Brown car around his traffic post in the center of the street intersection.

Mr. Brown, appearing with his son, George M. Brown, Jr., and daughter, Miss Corrie Brown, testified that Officer Gordon refused to serve the negro with a copy of charges and later insulted Mr. Brown and Miss Brown in a conversation with the former.

The officer contended that he had only followed the provisions of the law.

In executive session the board voted to exonerate the policeman.

Several Changes.

Chairman King's report recommended that A. J. Wingate, employed as Gamewell lineman, be assigned to extra duty in the office of the station sergeant when not engaged in his lineman's duties; that Assistant Station Sergeant Guy Lindsay be transferred to uniform street duty; that a mechanic be employed in the garage of the station house, and S. E. Johnson, bicycle repairman, be transferred to street duty; that a clerk be employed at a salary of $50 per month for duty in the detective department, and J. W. Hollingsworth be transferred to street duty. The report also recommended that a card index system be installed in the detective department to aid the officers in the handling of cases.

The board commended the committee, composed of Commissioners King, Clarke, Vaughn, Maddox and Wardlaw, and voted that it be continued for an investigation into the work of the juvenile probation officers detailed from the force to do juvenile probation work.

Application Granted.

An application from W. R. Adams that he be allowed to run a detective agency was granted.

In granting awards the board gave Detectives Black and Doyal $100 for conviction of an automobile thief and recovery of the car; Sergeant George C. Bullard, $230 for the arrest and conviction of criminals and the capture of jail-breakers; Officers Payne and West, $25 for the capture of an escaped convict, and Officer G. C. Fain, $1.25 confiscated money, unclaimed, following a raid on a "crap" game.

Hirsch Bros. have been awarded the contract for summer uniforms, it was announced.

SHARP EARTH SHOCKS ARE FELT AT PANAMA

Whole Canal Zone Shaken, But No Damage to Locks Reported.

Panama, February 8.—Three sharp earth shocks occurred between 11 and 11:14 o'clock today. The whole city and the canal zone were shaken. The disturbance was most severely felt in the new administration building, several of the clerks running out of the structure in alarm.

No damage to the canal locks or dams is reported.

The recording instruments showed that the earthquake had its center in the vicinity of Los Santos province, where most of the earthquakes originate.

MURDERS IN NEW YORK TOTALED 246 FOR 1915

New York, February 8.—The report of the police department for 1915, made public today, shows that there were 246 murders in New York city during the year. This is against 257 murders in 1914 and 286 in 1913. The report shows a marked decrease in shooting cases and in burglaries.

Four thousand four hundred and thirty-nine persons were reported missing during the year, the fate of 829 of whom is still unknown. The total number of arrests made was 212,452 and 161,121 persons were convicted. A total of 161,367 serious and petty crimes was reported.

THEATRICAL COMPANY GOES TO FRENCH FRONT

Paris, February 8.—A company from the French National theater left for the front today to give a series of productions for the entertainment of men from the trenches.

The program is largely comic, including an amusing one-act piece, "The Brigand," by Abraham Dreyfus. Madame Bartet will recite poems and Mme. Marguerite Carre, of the Opera comique, will sing the "Marseillaise" and solos from "Manon." The ministry of war has provided transport for a limited amount of scenery.

It is probable that the company will play in every case close enough to the front to be within sound of shell fire, but out of the reach of projectiles.

WOUNDED BY A WOMAN, REV. H. M. CAGLE DIES

Sherman, Texas, February 8.—Rev. H. M. Cagle, who was shot here yesterday by Mrs. Annie Faust, wife of a farmer, died late today without regaining consciousness. Mrs. Faust was arrested at the time of the shooting, but later was released under bond. She charged that the minister had "slandered" her.

Neutrality Complications Result From the Contract Of Operatic Star and Baron

MADAME EMMA VAN DE ZANDE,
Who is warned that her business affiliation with German baron may result in prosecution for her.

Atlanta is now the scene of the latest neutrality complications, while Karl von Lawrenz, the prominent musician, and Madame Emma Van De Zande, the Belgian operatic star, now living at 125 East Eleventh street, are the central figures.

No definite steps have been taken in the situation, but the future promises interesting developments. The core of the difficulty is Madame Van De Zande's professional affiliations with Von Lawrenz, a German nobleman by rank, but a resident of America for seventeen years.

Foreign representatives voice suspicion of Von Lawrenz's neutrality. Foreign agents have also charged that the operatic singer is aligned with the orchestra leader for purposes of espionage. Dr. F. E. May, French consul, has barred Madame Van De Zande from his office, and is keeping the Belgian minister in Washington in constant touch with her actions.

She has two brothers-in-law on the official staff of the Belgian army and the Belgian authorities have sought to sever her connections with the German musician and booking agent. In

Taft Says Heaven Cares For Children, Drunkards And the United States

New York, February 8.—Former President Taft in an address here tonight at the annual dinner of the Young Men's Bible Class of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church, declared that the United States is in the European war to the "very struggle itself."

"The rights of neutrals do not count for much," said Mr. Taft. "England has violated international law. Germany has violated our rights by attacking steamships with non-combatants on them and even neutrals.

"As neutrals we have the right to sell munitions. As the fortunes of war has swept one of the belligerents off the sea, the exercise of our right has aroused the enmity of that belligerent and created a storm. It seems that we are reaching a proposition that neutrals ought to be consulted before war begins."

Mr. Taft said America has asserted that what it has it will keep, if it has to fight for it. The Monroe doctrine, he said, has "kept the hands of Europe from us for over a century."

"Something happened over in Europe and we were saved," he added. "That proved that Heaven looks after children, inebriates and the United States."

Mr. Taft said he did not think this country was going to have war, but warned that "we have a good deal of hay out which might suffer in a storm."

"The question is why prepare at all?" he said, "or prepare adequately. Let's either give up entirely or choose one or the other. Our first duty is to increase our navy."

Mr. Taft advocated a larger navy "to prevent the coming of any military expedition of any country with a standing army."

"Advertise" Was Keynote Of an Address by Ludlow To the Hardware Dealers

Pittsburg, February 8.—"Advertise" was the keynote of an address by President Matthias Ludlow, of Newark, N. J., at the opening session of the fifteenth annual convention of the Pennsylvania and Atlantic Seaboard Hardware Men's association here today.

"Advertise! The local field is yours," said President Ludlow. "An advertisement in your local papers will carry your message into hundreds of homes. Let the people know what you have for sale. This can only be done by advertising. You do not count for much unless people know about you. Advertise."

Cary Favors Milwaukee For American Capital To Escape Prohibition

Washington, February 8.—Representative Cary, of Wisconsin, today introduced a resolution for transfer of the United States capital to Milwaukee. He said he did it because of pending legislation which might make the District of Columbia dry. Prohibition, he said, was "a menace to society and good government."

HEARINGS IN PUBLIC ON LOUIS D. BRANDEIS

Consideration Begins Today of His Nomination to U. S. Supreme Court.

Washington, February 8.—Consideration of the nomination of Louis D. Brandeis, of Boston, to the supreme court of the United States to succeed the late Justice Lamar, will begin tomorrow at an open session of a judiciary sub-committee of the senate.

Within the memory of present senators such a nomination never has been inquired into except behind closed doors. Members of the judiciary subcommittee, however, deemed it advisable, in view of the public interest demonstrated in Mr. Brandeis' nomination, to hold the hearings in public with the consent of the senate.

Protestants against the appointment of Mr. Brandeis are first to be heard, but the sub-committee also has a flood of petitions from individuals and organizations urging his confirmation. These will be considered later.

Witnesses who have been summoned to appear in connection with protests filed include Clifford Thorne, railroad commissioner of Iowa, who wishes to be heard with regard to Mr. Brandeis' conduct of the railroad 5 per cent rate case; S. W. Winslow, president of the United Shoe Machinery company, with which Mr. Brandeis was once affiliated as counsel; P. J. Lennox and James J. Starrow, of Boston; C. W. Barron, of the Boston News bureau; Thomas C. Spelling, of New York; Joseph M. Teal, of Portland, Ore., and Lieutenant Governor John M. Eshleman, of California.

How long the hearings will be continued members of the sub-committee do not predict, but they say the inquiry will be a thorough one.

Trenches Are Healthier For the French Soldiers Than Barracks in Peace

Paris, February 8.—Life in the trenches is healthier for the French soldiers now than in barracks during peace times, according to official figures issued today by the army medical department.

The cases of measles, scarletina, mumps, diphtheria and cerebro-spinal meningitis were more numerous in the army during 1911 than in 1915. These diseases, together with typhoid and dysentery, averaged 7.11 per thousand men in 1911, as compared with 6.02 per thousand men last year. Although the total was lower, typhoid and dysentery were somewhat more prevalent. Typhoid cases last year numbered 4.4 per thousand men, as compared with 1.88 in 1911. Dysentery, formerly the deadly enemy of armies in the field, attacked only eighteen men out of 100,000, as compared with eleven in 100,000 before the war. The mortality was twelve for each 100 cases of typhoid in 1911; in the field the mortality was 2.55 per cent, owing to improved methods of treatment.

HEAVY FIGHTING AGAIN UNDER WAY ON GALICIA FRONT

Vienna Admits That at One Point the Russians Entered the Austrian Lines, But Were Quickly Driven Out.

GREAT ARTILLERY DUEL ON THE WESTERN FRONT

This May Be Prelude to Important Infantry Movements--Paris Reports Great Damage to German Positions.

London, February 8.—Heavy fighting has broken out again in east Galicia. All along the front the artillery has been very active. The Russians succeeded north of Tarnopol after repeated attacks in penetrating the Austro-Hungarian advanced infantry posts, but were ejected from them later on, according to Vienna.

In the Caucasus the Petrograd war office reports continued advances there against the Turks, both north and south of Erzerum, the Russian forces having pressed further westward along the Black sea coast and along the northern shores of Lake Van.

Artillery actions between the French and British and the Germans continue at various points on the Franco-Belgian front, but there have been no important changes in positions anywhere. Nor have the Germans yet begun the great offensive for which they are reported to be preparing.

In the Austro-Italian theater there have been only artillery duels.

In the Balkans all is quiet.

Austrian warships in the Adriatic have ineffectually attempted to torpedo a British cruiser and a French torpedo boat which were aiding the Serbian army in its evacuation of the Adriatic coast. A Teuton submarine also attempted to sink two entente allied vessels off Durazzo, but the torpedoes missed their marks.

RUSSIAN REPORT ON OPERATIONS

Petrograd, February 8.—(Via London.)—An official statement tonight reads:

"The Germans fired large caliber guns in the Riga region, to which our artillery replied effectively. In the Dvinsk region the artillery activity has been rather less animated than usual. Between the Medmoussi and Demmen lakes a strong party of German scouts tried to approach our trenches, but were driven away by a fusillade.

"On the Galician front in the middle Stripa region there have been a series of skirmishes between scouts. In the region of Uscieczko the enemy attempted to advance from the river crossing, but were repulsed by our fire.

"On the Black sea our ships successfully bombarded the Turkish positions in the coast region. On the Anatolian coast our torpedo boats had a duel with a Turkish coast battery and were also attacked by a Turkish submarine, but sustained no damage. A squadron of our hydro-aeroplanes attacked with bombs a big steamer anchored at Sunguldalk.

"On the Caucasus front engagements continue to our advantage."

GERMANS CAUGHT BY FRENCH FIRE.

Paris, February 8.—(Via London.)—An official communication tonight reads:

"In Artois a rather intense artillery duel has occurred northeast and southeast of Neuville St. Vaast. South of the Avre we dispersed an infantry column near Lassigny.

"North of the Aisne the fire of our batteries caused heavy damage to the enemy works in the region north of Troyon and on the plateau of Vauclerc. North of Berry-au-Bac we took under our fire troops in transit.

"In the Argonne artillery fighting continued to our advantage. At Les Courtes Chausses we fired three ca-moufiets, which shattered works of the enemy, and we exploded a mine at Lafille Morte.

"In the Vosges our artillery bombarded the enemy cantonments at Stossvihr, northwest of Muenster, and Hirtzbach, south of Altkirch. In the afternoon a long range German gun dropped three shells on Belfort and its environs. We shelled the military establishments at Dornac near Milhausen."

London, February 8.—The British official statement issued tonight on the campaign in the west reads:

"There was some shelling by both sides during the day between the rivers Ancre and Somme and north of LaBassee canal. There was considerable artillery activity about Loos."

RUSSIANS THRUST AT AUSTRIANS.

Berlin, February 8.—(Via Wireless.) The Russians are again on the aggressive in Galicia, according to today's statement by Austro-Hungarian army headquarters, transmitted here. In one attack on an Austro-Hungarian advance infantry position northwest of Tarnopol the Russians temporarily succeeded in entering the point attacked, according to the statement, but were shortly afterwards ejected.

The position in question was the object of repeated Russian attacks, according to the statement, which adds that, favored by clearer weather, the artillery along the whole northeastern or Russian front has been active.

New York, February 8.—The Austro-Hungarian official communication received by way of London says:

"Vienna, February 8.—(Via London.) Russian theater: Favored by clearer weather, there was vigorous artillery activity along the entire northeast front yesterday. Northwest of Tarnopol the Russians last night repeatedly attacked one of our advanced infantry vantage points, which they temporarily succeeded in penetrating, but from which they were ejected after a short time.

"On the Italian and southeastern fronts there is nothing of importance to report."

GERMANS SHIFT TO WEST FRONT.

Petrograd, February 8.—(Via London.)—The lull which extends over the whole Russian front with the exception of a recrudescence of unimportant artillery, aeroplane and mining warfare on the Dvinsk-Riga line, and information of the recent transfer of large bodies of German troops to the westward are taken by the Russian authorities as an indication that the Germans are content for the present with holding their own in Bukowina and the northern sector and are again preparing to apply the greater part of their strength on the western front.

In the absence of any definite new developments in Bukowina, it is assumed that the deadlock in the region of Czernowich, where the muddy terrain has made operations on both sides impossible, is still unbroken, and that both armies are making the best of their situations by consolidation, developing to the utmost the defensive possibilities of their positions.

Pursuing the same tactics which they have employed since the beginning of the war on this front, the Germans again are rapidly transferring troops from Bukowina to the region of Dvinsk, with the results recorded in the official communications.

No importance is attached by Russian military officers to this latest German "diversion," because it is believed the Germans would be unable to develop a successful campaign against Dvinsk without the co-operation of the Baltic fleet.

GERMANS CHECK FRENCH ATTACK.

Berlin, February 8.—(By Wireless.)—Active fighting on the French front south of the River Somme was announced today by army headquarters. The Germans lost a small section of one of the trenches they had conquered, but afterward retook the position by a counter attack.

The main attack by the French which had been prepared for by heavy artillery fire was repulsed, the announcement states.

An attack by a German air squadron on the railroad station at Poperinghe, Belgium, and on British camps between Poperinghe and Dixmude, is reported in the official bulletin.

The German airmen had several combats with hostile aeroplanes, but returned without having suffered any losses.

The text of the official statement as given out today by German army headquarters says:

"Western theater: There was lively artillery activity to the south of the river Somme. During the night of February 6-7 a small trench section in our new positions was lost. A French attack delivered yesterday afternoon, for which the enemy had prepared by artillery fire, was repulsed. During the evening a counter attack again put us in full possession of our position.

BRITISH HOLD KUT-EL-AMARA.

London, February 8.—An official communication from military headquarters at Delhi says that General Townshend is holding Kut-El-Amara as a point of strategical value and that General Aylmer's operations are being carried out for the purpose of supporting General Townshend at that point. The communication adds that no withdrawal is contemplated.

SQUEEZE THREAT BY ARMOR BARONS

Armor Prices to Be Doubled if Government Establishes Plant—Committee, However, Votes for Government Factory.

Washington, February 8.—A bill for a government armor plate factory was approved by the senate naval committee today within a few minutes after manufacturers had served notice that should such a plant be established the price charged the government for armor made by private concerns would be increased nearly one-half.

The bill carries an appropriation of $11,000,000 for purchase or construction of a government factory with an annual output of not less than 20,000 tons. That is only enough for two first-class battleships, and thus a large part of the armor needed in the navy's increased building program would have to come from private plants.

The threat of the private manufacturers was communicated to the committee by Senator Penrose, who said the Bethlehem and Midvale companies were among those who had agreed to an increase of $200 a ton if the government factory proposal went through. The navy department now pays about $425.

Threat Won't Stop Congress.

"The threat of the armor barons to hold up the government will not affect congress," said Chairman Tillman. We were given to understand that the armor manufacturers would increase their price because government manufacture of armor plate would force them to go out of that business and they would charge this enormous increase in order to provide themselves with an amortization fund. But I guess we can find a way to stop the robbers. In time of trouble we could seize their plants and operate them by right of eminent domain."

The vote of the committee was 9 to 3, Senators Penrose, Lodge and Smith of Michigan, opposing the measure. Senators Tillman, Swanson, Bryan, Johnson of Maine, Chilton, Pittman, Phelan, Clapp and Poindexter voted for the bill.

Senators figured that if the armor plate manufacturers did raise the price it would cost the government $24,000,000 extra for armor plate to complete the five-year naval building program.

Senator Tillman said he proposed to ask Senator Penrose to repeat the announcement of the armor plate manufacturers to the senate.

The proposal for a government plant has the backing of Secretary Daniels, and Senator Tillman will press his bill for early passage.

To Enlarge Navy Yards.

After brief consideration the senate naval committee acted favorably on the bills authorizing expenditure of $500,000 to equip Mare Island navy yard for battleship construction and of $100,000 to enlarge the facilities of the New York navy yard and the bill to add 300 midshipmen to the entrance class at the naval academy next July. These bills passed the house yesterday.

On motion of Senator Phelan, of California, the committee agreed to consider his bill to appropriate $10,000,000 for construction of a naval and aviation academy within 150 miles of San Francisco.

Senator La Follette blocked an attempt in the senate to pass immediately upon arrival from the house the provision making available at once $600,000 to equip the navy yards at New York and Mare Island, although Chairman Tillman, of the naval committee, asked unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

"I think the matter of such importance that we should have a written report," said Senator La Follettee, "and I object."

On the house side of the capitol the naval committee virtually concluded its examination of Rear Admiral Blue, chief of the bureau of navigation.

Navy Ready in Pacific.

The most striking statement brought out at any of the hearings was that of Admiral Blue, who declared the American navy was ready to meet any enemy it might be called upon to encounter in the Pacific. He declined to say what steps had been taken in the last year and a half toward preparing the navy against emergencies, holding these to be military secrets.

Chairman Padgett supported Admiral Blue in his determination not to reveal departmental secrets, overruling Representative Britten's attempt to find out, as he expressed it, "whether the navy is now ready to fight." Mr. Britten asserted that the general board had warned the department a year ago that it should prepare and he wanted to know just what steps had been taken.

Today's examination of Admiral Blue disclosed the source of the statements contained in Admiral Fletcher's last annual report that the Atlantic fleet was short 5,000 men of its proper complement. Various boards of fleet officers determined upon the number of men thought necessary for vessels of each type a year ago, Admiral Blue said, and these greatly increased the number for each ship. Admiral Fletcher based his statement on these figures, he added, and the shortage under authorized complements was less than 1,000, which had since been remedied.

Number of Men to a Ship.

Chairman Padgett announced that the whole subject of the proper number of men for any ship was a matter of so much difference of opinion among navy officers that Secretary Daniels had directed a board headed by Rear Admiral Mayo to standardize battle stations on all fighting craft as a means of getting an authoritative basis for estimates. Admiral Blue explained that peace complements were fixed under a definite rule which provided, among other things, for men enough to man all the big guns and one-half the secondary battery of a ship. He refused to give details of the plan except confidentially.

Representative Callaway brought out statements that should the proposed five-year building program be approved, 28,000 additional men and 15,000 additional officers would be necessary within eight years. As it is now, Admiral Blue said, the navy will need 15,000 men by 1919 to man ships already authorized, and should have 15,000 reserves to provide against casualties. He thought the department's plans would produce that number of reserves in two or three years if approved by congress through amendments to the naval reserve act. There are from 25,000 to 30,000 fully trained men now in civil life, he added, many of whom it is hoped to enlist in the reserve.

Admiral Blue will take up the department's proposals tomorrow, outlining the amendments desired.

Pretty Young Bride Will Stick to Hubby, Charged With Forgery

H. G. Van Norton, 23-year-old bookkeeper, of Charleston, is languishing in the Fulton county Tower pending a journey back to his native state in custody of South Carolina officers, who caused his arrest in Atlanta on charges of forgery.

Van Norton, who has been here for the past several months, recently married a pretty 18-year-old telephone operator and was enjoying his honeymoon when Deputy George Broadnax accosted him on the street and took him to jail.

The Van Nortons lived at 156 Courtland street.

Mrs. Van Norton announced yesterday that she was going to stick to her husband and get him out of trouble if possible.

GERMANY YIELDS TO UNITED STATES

half an hour, while the secretary outlined the wishes of the United States in detail. As the ambassador left the building he said:

"Everything is substantially all right, but it is not finished."

A high official of the administration made this announcement:

"A settlement of the Lusitania case is in sight, probably within the next few days. The United States has not increased its demands; it has not reduced them. You can draw your own conclusion as to the basis of the agreement. The wording proposed by Germany appears to cover the position of the United States. It is not fair to assume that there will have to be any further admissions or concessions from Berlin."

He added that the proposal was "substantially satisfactory."

What Germany Concedes.

Germany agreed in the proposed communication that reprisals should not be directed at other than enemy subjects, expresses regret and assumes liability for the American lives lost in the Lusitania disaster, offers reparation in the form of indemnity, and declares that the submarine warfare in the zone around the British Isles has been modified out of regard for the long standing friendship for the United States and because American citizens have lost their lives. The communiaction also calls attention to previous assurances that passenger ships shall not be sunk without warning and without provision for the safety of noncombatants, and that the instructions given to submarine commanders in this respect have been made so stringent that there can be no recurrence of such incidents.

In taking the precaution to submit to Berlin the changes suggested, Count von Bernstorff is believed to have been actuated by a desire to obviate any possibility that the communication later might be repudiated because of a slight difference in language. The German government, it is known, has in one instance shown some reluctance in approving a settlement made by one of its diplomatic representatives because it embarrassed to a certain extent relations with an ally.

Officials Reluctant to Boast.

Officials appeared to be reluctant to proclaim what achievements have been gained. There were indications that this was caused by probable consideration for the political situation in Germany. It is believed in various quarters that it would be most undesirable at this time to have the German governmental majority made the target for resentful public opinion which might act in favor of the minority with which Admiral von Tirpitz is affiliated. Such a situation, it is considered, might lead to the upsetting of everything which has been accomplished.

Officials explained that great haste in disposing of the Lusitania case had been impossible for several reasons. In the first place several other important events have intervened. There was the controversy with Germany over the sinking of the Arabic, the negotiations with Austria-Hungary over the Ancona incident, and the all-important subject of the British blockade of Germany and the pressure brought to bear in this last connection by American business interests. Then, considering the magnitude of the questions involved and the fact that the negotiations have been conducted without guiding precedent, officials are of the opinion that the Lusitania case has been handled with all dispatch consistent with safety not only in regard to the exigencies of the moment and the strained relations with Germany, but having in mind the fact that the United States is laying down practically new principles of international law, which might, if improperly considered, have serious results in the future, should this country be involved in a war.

FEELING OF RELIEF EVOKED IN BERLIN BY THE AGREEMENT

Berlin, February 9.—(Via London.)—A momentary feeling of relief has been evoked here by a special New York dispatch to The Frankfurter Zeitung in which the correspondent says he has heard "on good Washington authority" that the Lusitania crisis "is as good as settled."

This dispatch, although not republished in Berlin, was generally circulated here last night and this morning, and it is understood that several Berlin newspapers received similar dispatches, but did not publish them.

The Associated Press learns authoritatively that nothing has been received by the German authorities from Count von Bernstorff, the ambassador at Washington, to justify this optimism. In fact, the foreign office is still awaiting a reply on the effect of its latest communication to the American government.

"In the meantime there is no change in the submarine situation, on which the diplomatic developments of the next few days may exert a powerful influence.

The views recently expressed by the American administration that merchant vessels should not be permitted to carry any armament, while they have not been submitted to Germany officially have, it appears, been taken to heart here, and, although Great Britain and France may, as reported in dispatches, refuse to accept this standpoint, Germany may be expected to adopt it as her own.

Wilson May Wait for House.

The Tageblatt this morning expressed the opinion that Washington would await the arrival of Colonel House, President Wilson's personal representative, who conferred with high officials in Berlin, and Henry Morgenthau, the American ambassador at Constantinople, now on his way to the United States, before acting definitely on the latest German communication regarding the Lusitania. Well informed circles here, however, consider this scarcely likely. Ambassador Morgenthau, although he had conversations with Foreign Secretary von Jagow and Under Secretary Zimmermann, while here did not talk with the heads of the foreign office in any official capacity, and bears no special message or information from them, it is understood, beyond the impression that official Germany is seriously in earnest in the declaration that the utmost limit of concession has been reached and that under the present condition of German internal politics changes in the opposite direction are rather to be expected unless an agreement on the settlement is now reached.

This information, however, is already in possession of the state department at Washington, and it is pointed out that there would be no need, therefore, to await the arrival of the steamer with Ambassador Morgenthau.

House Received Information.

Colonel House, on the other hand, did receive specific information, the substance of which he cabled in a series of recommendations to Washington. It is not doubted that he took up on his departure from Berlin a serious view of the situation regarding the submarine negotiations, and it is hoped here, as a consequence, that his visit will exert an ameliorating effect on German-American relations in this particular. As, however, Colonel House will not arrive in New York until the first week in March, and as his views on the German situation are already before the president, it is doubted whether the decision of the American government will be postponed until his arrival, at any rate so far as an immediate answer to the German communication is concerned.

Meantime, the situation is perhaps best summarized in a phrase from an English dispatch that it is at this moment "no more and no less serious than in any earlier phase of the conflict."

KAISER'S CONSULS UNDER INDICTMENT

the Sacramento. The alleged indictments of Chancellor Kauffmann and Baron von Schack were said to be in connection with the carrying of coal by the steamer Mazatlan from San Francisco to Guaymas for German warships in the fall of 1914. Frederick Jebsen owned the vessel.

The alleged indictment of J. H. von Koolbergen, it was said, came in connection with what purported to be an affidavit by him that he was hired by Bopp and Von Brincken and others to destroy property in Canada. Von Koolbergen is now in Canada.

Reports have reached here that Jebsen made his way to Europe and met his death in action on board a German submarine.

PRINCE OF DENMARK AT A CHICAGO HOTEL

Chicago, February 8.—A prince of Denmark, on the way to Canada to take up scientific farming of northern wheat fields, registered today as "Erikson, Copenhagen," at a Chicago hotel. He refused to meet newspaper men, but a friend with whom he was traveling said that the agricultural field was the sole object of the visit and that the name of the prince was Erik Frederick Christian Alexander, nephew of Empress Alexandra of Russia, son of the vice admiral of the Danish navy and cousin of the late King George of Greece and King Christian of Denmark.

Workers for Emory University Greatly Pleased With Progress of Campaign During "Doctors' Week."

"Doctors' Week" in the campaign to make good Atlanta's pledge of $500,000 for Emory university netted a total of $30,115, bringing the fund to $242,963, practically half of the amount sought. Announcement of this splendid result was made at a luncheon at the chamber of commerce yesterday afternoon. It was decided that the coming seven days will be "Lawyers' Week." Members of the bar are taking great interest in the campaign because of the L. Q. C. Lamar Law school, which is to be a part of the university.

Dr. W. S. Elkin, dean of the medical school of Emory university, presided over Tuesday's meeting of campaign workers. In addition to report of magnificent contributions secured by committees of druggists, physicians and dentists, other workers reported subscriptions indicative of enthusiasm for the campaign among members of various other professions.

UNITED STATES WANTS GEN. VILLA'S BROTHER

Washington, February 8.—The United States has asked Cuba for the extradition of Hippolite Villa, General Villa's brother, to answer an indictment in Texas charging complicity in cutting the line of the Southern Pacific railway, near El Paso, in December in an attempt to hamper movement of Carranza forces through American territory to attack Villa forces in Mexico. Villa has been arrested in Havana.

El Paso, Texas, February 8.—Hipolito Villa was indicted by an El Paso county grand jury late yesterday, W. W. Bridges, district attorney, announced today. The indictment charges that Villa sent Mexicans from Juarez to pull spikes from the Galveston, Harrisburg and San Antonio mail line near Fort Hancock, Texas, in an effort to wreck Carranza troop trains en route to relieve Agua Prieta, Sonora, last November. Bridges said some witnesses before the grand jury claimed they were employed by Villa.

Three Words
To Your Grocer---
"New Post Toasties"
will bring a package of breakfast flakes with a delicious new corn flavour—flakes that don't mush down when milk or cream is added, nor are they "chaffy" in the package like the ordinary kind.

These New Post Toasties are manufactured by a new process using quick, intense heat which raises tiny bubbles over each flake, the distinguishing characteristic. And the new process also brings out a new corn flavour, never tasted in corn flakes of the past.

Try a handful dry—they're good this way and the test will reveal their superior flavour. But they're usually served with milk or cream.

KITCHENER TO EGYPT; DERBY TO WAR OFFICE

London Hears Rumors of Important Changes in the Cabinet.

London, February 8.—The Weekly World says it hears that Field Marshal Lord Kitchener is likely to take command of the British forces in Egypt, and that the Earl of Derby, the director of recruiting, will be the new secretary of state for war, with a seat in the cabinet.

The World gives no authority for the report, but says it is gossip in line with recent intimations that Earl Kitchener might withdraw from the war ministry to assume more active duties.

Lord Derby has just returned to London from a visit to the British forces in Flanders.

Thin People Can Increase Weight

Thin men and women who would like to increase their weight with 10 or 15 pounds of healthy "stay there" fat should try eating a little Sargol with their meals for a while and note results. Here is a good test worth trying. First weigh yourself and measure yourself. Then take Sargol—one tablet with every meal—for two weeks. Then weigh and measure again. It isn't a question of how you look or feel or what your friends say or think. The scales and the tape measure will tell their own story, and many thin men and women we believe can easily add from five to eight pounds in the first fourteen days by following this simple direction. And best of all, the new flesh stays put.

Sargol does not of itself make fat, but mixing with your food, it aims to turn the fats, sugars and starches of what you have eaten, into rich, ripe fat producing nourishment for the tissues and blood—prepare it in an easily assimilated form which the blood can readily accept. Much of this nourishment now passes from your body as waste. But Sargol works to stop the waste and do it quickly and to make the fat producing contents of the very same meals you are eating now develop pounds and pounds of healthy flesh between your skin and bones. Sargol is safe, pleasant, efficient and inexpensive. Jacobs' Pharmacies, Atlanta, and other leading druggists in this vicinity sell it in large boxes—forty tablets to a package—on a guarantee of weight increase or money back as found in each large box.

"FORTY-NINE MASTERS" SERVED BY RAILROADS

According to Elliott, Who Says Burden Is Too Great—Opposes 8-Hour Day Campaign.

Washington, February 8.—Demands of railroad employees for higher wages and the general tendency toward the eight-hour work day were deprecated as checks upon the development of industry by Howard Elliott, chairman of the board of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, in a speech tonight before the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. He said such demands as those recently made by the four great organizations of railroad men were but steps in a process, which, if continued, would raise the cost of living to new heights and finally result in conditions much more to the disadvantage of labor than of capital.

Mr. Elliott's speech came at the close of the first day of the national chamber's fourth annual convention, which is being attended by delegates from every state in the union. John H. Fahey, of Boston, the president, addressed the opening this morning, appealing to business men to do some constructive thinking and to become less partisan in dealing with great economic questions.

Many Prominent Speakers.

The day's sessions were devoted largely to committee reports. Tonight there were speeches by men prominent in the business, official and professional life of the nation. In addition to Mr. Elliott, the speakers included Secretary Redfield, of the department of commerce, who discussed vocational education, and Dr. Ernest Fox Nichols, president of Dartmouth college, whose subject was employment managers.

A report from the merchant marine committee condemning certain features of the ship purchase bill pending in congress started a lively discussion during the afternoon. William H. Douglas, chairman, asserted the committee's belief that it would be unwise to place two cabinet officers, as contemplated, on the proposed shipping board and characterized the proposal to have the government spend $50,000,000 as inadequate.

"The president has heard the voice of the people on national preparedness," Mr. Douglas said, "and from a program of two battleships a year he now calls for the greatest navy in the world. If he were to go out and speak for a merchant marine he would come back with a proposal not to spend $50,000,000, but $250,000,000."

President Wilson was commended for his proposal to establish a tariff board by Daniel P. Morse, chairman of the committee considering a permanent tariff board. Commercial arbitration agreements between manufacturers in the United States and merchants in South America were advocated by a committee which recently negotiated an arbitration agreement of this character with Argentina merchants.

Wilson to Address Convention.

A resolution which would put the chamber on record as approving a policy of universal military training in the United States is under consideration by the resolutions committee and probably will be introduced Thursday after addresses by Secretaries Garrison and Daniels. President Wilson, who will speak at the dinner which will close the convention Thursday night, is expected to touch on the subject of national defense.

In his address tonight Mr. Elliott told the chamber that a way should be found to adjust wage demands so that even the conception of a plan to paralyze the entire railway system of the country would be impossible. He lamented the tendency toward the eight-hour day in view of the great volume of work facing the country's industries and declared the railroads should be relieved of the burden of serving "forty-nine masters"—the federal government and the states.

"The nation is confronted with more work than ever before, ships to build, factories to enlarge, railways to complete," he said. "About 30,000,000 men are at work. If they work ten hours a day that is 93,600,000,000 hours a year. If they work eight hours it is 74,880,000,000, a difference of 18,720,000,000 hours a year. At eight hours a day this would mean that about 7,400,000 more men must be employed to do the work that 30,000,000 could do. And where are they to come from?"

Titanic Struggle for Trade.

Secretary Redfield pictured a titanic struggle for the world's commerce after the European war, with the United States, Germany and England, the three great trade rivals. American business, he declared, must borrow German organization and British tenacity, perfecting at the same time Yankee methods, if it would emerge victorious from the trade war.

Vocational education, the secretary said, was one of American manufacturers' greatest needs.

Better methods of employing and dealing with labor was urged by Dr. Nichols. Industrial relations, he declared, suffered when business grew to such proportions that personal relations ceased to exist between employer and employee. Syndicalism and socialism were more than vague shadows, he added, and the socialist was growing for one reason, because labor felt it was being exploited.

GREEK LEGION OF HONOR FOR EDITOR OF ATLANTIS

New York, February 8.—The king of Greece has conferred upon Solon Stylien I. Vlasto, head of the Greek orthodox church in America, the golden cross of officer of the Savior, the Greek legion of honor, for his "continual services to Greece and to the Greeks of America," numbering 400,000. A cablegram received from Agamemnon Schliemann, former Greek minister to the United States, brought the announcement today that a royal decree published in Greece contained notice of the honor.

Mr. Vlasto is editor of The Atlantis, a Greek-American newspaper here. Under his auspices Greeks in this country have contributed an estimated total of nearly $1,000,000 to Greece during that nation's last two wars, and the golden cross was awarded partly in connection with these services, it was stated.

DUTCH MOTOR VESSEL TORPEDOED BY GERMANS

Amsterdam, February 9.—(Via London.)—A semi-official statement from Berlin says that the Dutch motor vesvel Artemis was torpedoed because the German commander believed that she was resisting inspection. The statement follows:

"During the night of February 1 and 2 the Artemis was attacked by a German torpedo boat and damaged by a torpedo. The ship was able to reach port in a damaged condition. According to all available information the commander of the torpedo boat believed that the Artemis was resisting his order for inspection, and in order to put an end to this resistance he attacked the ship. The inquiry into the affairs as a result of which a neutral vessel, much to our regret, came to grief, has not been concluded."

News of the torpedoing of the Dutch motor vessel Artemis was received from the Hook of Holland on February 3.

GEN. WOOD TAKES SHOT AT WHITE RABBIT TYPE

In His Address on Military Training Camps at Chattanooga.

Chattanooga, Tenn., February 8.—The object of citizens military training camps was explained here tonight by Major General Leonard Wood, commander of the department of the east, United States army, who spoke before a mass meeting of 2,000, held under the auspices of the Chickamauga Park summer military training camp committee. General Wood earlier in the day had inspected the Eleventh Cavalary regiment at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., near Chattanooga.

"You will hear some of these gentlemen of the white rabbit type whom we are getting ready to fight," said the general. "Tell them we are not getting ready to fight anybody. We are getting ready to defend the right and protect the weak. We are not preparing for war, we are preparing to insure ourselves against war."

General Wood's address was devoted mainly to preparedness and training camp advice. He first described the military training camps arranged by the government, declaring their purpose was to establish a better understanding of the "sound ideas governing the military system and a deeper interest in the military history of the country." He took up the question of preparedness by reviewing some of the nations military history, which, he said, unfortunately was not taught the students of the country's public schools and colleges. He argued for the institution of a military system on the order of that in Switzerland, which, he said, would give the United States an adequate reserve in time of need.

"We do not want militarism in this country," he said. "Nobody wants it. And nobody wants it less or dislikes it more than the army and naval officers. All we want is to build up an intelligent and efficient interest in military preparedness which will enable us to maintain our self-respect."

General Wood argued for the institution of instruction in the schools of the United States regarding the country's military history and policies so as to disabuse the minds of the growing generations of the false pride built on the nation's victories. This, he urged as part of the preparedness system. He pointed out what he said were faults and lack of preparedness at the time of the revolution, the wars of 1812, the Mexican war and the civil war and said that the United States had never yet met the full force of a first-class power prepared for war.

General Wood departed tonight for Atlanta.

ENGINEER IS KILLED IN A SEABOARD WRECK

Southern Pines, N. C., February 8.—Engineer D. K. Wright, of Raleigh, was killed and his negro fireman suffered a broken arm when the Seaboard Air Line railway's Florida Limited, northbound, was derailed three miles south of Vass, N. C., near here, early today. None of the passengers was injured, although several were thrown from their berths when the accident occurred. Railroad men at work clearing away the wreckage said a loose wheel on the tender of the locomotive apparently was responsible for the wreck.

The train was said to have been running at high speed at the time and the locomotive, which turned completely over, was practically demolished. One Pullman car and the dining car also left the rails, but were not seriously damaged.

MICHIGAN AUTO TAX HELD CONSTITUTIONAL

Detroit, Mich., February 8.—The Michigan automobile tax law providing a graded registration for motor vehicles and for turning over the revenue to the state to be spent for road improvements, was upheld as constitutional here today by Circuit Judges Mandell, Perkins and Withey, sitting jointly. Suit was brought by the city of Detroit which may be deprived of the taxes on automobiles now assessed at $15,000,000. The city will appeal to the state supreme court, it was announced.

EIGHTY ZEPPELINS IN GERMAN SERVICE

Fifteen Reported to Have Been Lost Since Beginning of the War.

Berne, Switzerland, February 8.—(Via Paris.)—Eighty Zeppelins are now in the German service, it appears from information developed at Friedrichshafen, where the Zeppelin works are located. One of the latest type that is having a trial trip this week is LZ-19, which is taken here to mean that it is the ninety-fifth in the series dating from the beginning of the war, fifteen having been lost, it is said.

The newest model seems considerably longer than previous types. It is of fish-like shape and gray-tinted, by the means of aluminum powder, it is explained. The gondolas are of plated steel. Each has six machine guns in its quick fire battery and apparatus for throwing bombs and air torpedoes. It is reported that a new air torpedo more powerful than any previously used is about to be given a trial.

The motor works connected with the Zeppelin plant test each motor by requiring that it run 48 hours without stopping and without developing any defects.

BIG SUPPLY OF MATZOTH FOR JEWS IN PALESTINE

New York, February 8.—The United States collier Sterling, it was announced here today, will transport supplies from this country to Jewish sufferers in Palestine. In addition to medicines to be sent by the American Jewish Relief committee, the Sterling will carry 60,000 pounds of matzoth, for which funds have been collected by the Hebrew Shelter and Immigrant Aid society of this city. Word was received from Rabbis in the Holy Land that a matzoth famine was likely at Passover because of the inadequate grain crop. The Sterling will sail from Norfolk February 16.

VILLA IS PLOTTING FOR INTERVENTION

Rebel Leader Credited With Saying He Will Force United States to Interfere.

El Paso, Texas, February 8.—A statement that Francisco Villa had threatened to force intervention by the United States within six weeks, was brought to the attention of American officials here and Mexican authorities at Juarez today.

The statement was made by a Mexican from Madera who said Villa declared he would cross the international border and hold up an El Paso and Southwestern railway train if intervention could be produced in no other way.

General Gavira, commandant at Juarez, was without word early in the day on the progress made by Carranza troops in their search for Villa. The last word received at military headquarters in Juarez reported Villa with 25 men in Canyon de El Nido.

Sixty-five members of a band of 130 former Villa soldiers have surrendered at San Miguel on the Chihuahua-Sonora state line, according to official advice to General Gabriel Gavira, commandant at Juarez today.

The remaining 65 are reported to be ready to surrender upon arrival of Carranza troops.

It was this band which was reported to have looted the storehouse at San Pedro a few weeks ago. Carranza soldiers, sent in pursuit, were reported here as joining the bandits. A second detachment effected the surrender. General Gavira said he had received no word from the de facto commanders operating in western Chihuahua against General Francisco Villa, located yesterday near the Santa Clara ranch.

AT THE THEATERS

"Sari."

(At the Atlanta.)

This afternoon a matinee performance of "Sari" will be given at the Atlanta by the excellent company which Henry W. Savage has sent south. This company, with Charles Meakins and Dorothy Webb in the leads, has won the commendation of critics and public alike, and gives a most pleasing performance of the fine Hungarian operetta. At the Atlanta they have been praised in a most enthusiastic manner. The music of "Sari" is delightful, while the comedy dancing and singing by the leading principals is refreshing to a remarkable degree. "Sari" has certainly got over big in this city, and the matinee this afternoon gives every promise of being a sell out. The last performance will be given tonight. At each performance the excellent orchestra of eighteen plays the music.

John Drew.

(At the Atlanta.)

Thursday morning at 9 o'clock seats will be placed on sale at the Atlanta for the engagement of John Drew, who will play Monday and Tuesday, with a Tuesday matinee. Dr. Drew is appearing in a new comedy, "The Chief," and is supported by a wonderful company with Laura Hope Crews as leading woman. Thais Lawton and other well-known players are also in the cast, and a perfect performance in every respect is given by this fine American actor. "The Chief" is a remarkably clever play, and has been praised enthusiastically by the critics. In New York this season it attracted more patronage than any play in which Mr. Drew has appeared in some years. In the south it has been called a perfect comedy, and all declare it is played as only really talented and truly experienced actors are able to play it.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

"A myriad of beautiful, dazzling mermaids—beautifully formed girls in daring diving, swimming and aquatic feats" is the way the program heralds the "Six Water Lilies," headline feature of the Forsyth Keith vaudeville bill this week, and all critics have agreed that the program has the act down precisely right. Seldom is there opportunity to see such an array of feminine beauty as is offered in the "Water Lillies" act, and the diving stunts they accomplish are much out of the ordinary. From the time the curtain rises revealing the girl-fringed pool until the end of the offering there isn't a moment's lull. Another big offering of this week is that of the Sixteen Navassar girls, whose symphony novelty is the best orchestral music Atlanta has heard in many days. The combination of these star soloists offers music of rare merit.

J. C. Nugent appears in one of the funniest sketches this celebrated author-comedian ever wrote. Among the other acts Manager George Hickman offers are "Ketchem and Cheatem" is a hilarious turn; Kenneth Casey, the Vitagraph boy; Tom Kuma, who does some amazing stunts with steel rings, and McGowan and Gordon in a pleasing comedy skit. "Haunts for Rent," the neweset Bray animated cartoon, opens the bill.

"Loveland Discovers America."

(At the Lyric.)

C. N. and A. M. Williamson, foremost among present day writers of American fiction, have written much that is delightful, but nothing more deliciously humorous than the British-American story, "Lord Loveland Discovers America," the lavish Mutual Masterpicture de Luxe that will be the attraction at the Lyric theater today and tomorrow. The leading roles are portrayed by Arthur Maude, the noted American star, and Constance Crawley, the famous artist of stage and pictures. They are supported by an ideal cast, which includes William Carroll, Charles Newton, William Frawley, George Clancey and Nell Franzen. The picture will be presented with special, adapted music by the Lyric symphony orchestra under the direction of Percy Lynn.

"Madame La Presidente."

(At the Grand.)

The last showing of "Madame La Presidente," the sparkling French comedy in which Anna Held is the star, and which already has become one of the hits of the year, will be had at the Grand today. Dazzling gowns, comedy of the type that has made Miss Held world-famed, and a most realistic pantomime of Miss Held's celebrated song, "I Just Can't Make My Eyes Behave," are features of the film. Miss Held lets her famous eyes misbehave quite a bit, and thereby injects some pleasing spice into the film. For Thursday only the Grand will offer John Barrymore in a Famous Players' comedy, "Nearly a King." First run Paramount news pictures and travelogues are an added feature of each day's program.

"Prince and the Pauper."

(At the Georgian.)

Winsome little Marguerite Clark, in her most appealing role, that of the pauper who exchanges places with a young prince, is the attraction at the Georgian today in "The Prince and the Pauper," a lavish picturization of Mark Twain's beloved classic. Miss Clark never appeared to better advantage than in the character of the poor little ragamuffin, who, finding himself at the outer gate of the palace one day, is envied by the luxury-shackled prince, the latter of whom yearns for the free, untrammeled existence of the waif, and willingly exchanges places with him. The story is fraught with able direction of Edwin Carewe, who also directed "Destiny, or the Soul of a Woman," and other Metro masterpieces. Strong situations stand out in contrast with the delightful humor that is sustained throughout.

"Life's Whirlpool."

(At the Strand.)

To be a star at fifteen years of age is possibly a distinction enjoyed by but few other actresses in the world than Fania Marinoff, the young emotional actress seen in the powerful role of Trina, in "Life's Whirlpool," the photodrama based upon Frank Norris' celebrated novel "McTeague," which comes to the Strand theater today. "Life's Whirlpool" is a production of The World Film corporation which assures its being of a quality distinctly out of the ordinary rut and Miss Marinoff in her impersonation of the heroine has created a sensation by her realistic acting wherever the picture has been seen.

"The Upstart."

(At Alamo No. 2.)

The Metro Picture Corporation presents at the Alamo No. 2 today only their newest release, "The Upstart," starring the popular screen artist, Marguerite Snow, and featuring the noted juvenile actor, George La Guere. This is a five-act satirical comedy-drama from the noted play of the same name by Thomas Barry; it is a distinct Metro novelty. It was produced under the appealing drama, and will be one of the season's biggest treats.

"A Submarine Pirate."

(At the Vaudette.)

For the third and last time, "A Submarine Pirate," greatest and funniest of Keystones, will be shown at the Vaudette today only. Twice before has this phenomenon among pictures packed the Vaudette to the doors; today, at the earnest request of scores of patrons, it will be presented again upon the Vaudette's screen. Josephus Daniels loaned the Keystone company a real United States submarine for this comedy; Syd Chaplin, as the submarine commander, makes this craft do some amazing water stunts. Chaplin and other men are shown climbing along girders on the twentieth floor of sky-scrapers.

"I DON'T SUFFER ANY MORE"

"Feel Like a New Person," says Mrs. Hamilton.

New Castle, Ind.—"From the time I was eleven years old until I was seventeen I suffered each month so I had to be in bed. I had headache, backache and such pains I would cramp double every month. I did not know what it was to be easy a minute. My health was all run down and the doctors did not do me any good. A neighbor told my mother about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took it, and now I feel like a new person. I don't suffer any more and I am regular every month."—Mrs. HAZEL HAMILTON, 822 South 15th St.

When a remedy has lived for forty years, steadily growing in popularity and influence, and thousands upon thousands of women declare they owe their health to it, is it not reasonable to believe that it is an article of great merit?

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Looking Over the List

Southern consumers are naturally interested in Southern industries---they should be. All things being equal—price, goods, service, etc.—home manufacturers should have "first call" on the patronage of home people.

The manufacturers shown above are among the largest in their lines in the south. They are home people--employing home people. They aid in building up home communities.

Their products are the equal--or superior---to similar goods on the market. If you have used them---you will agree to this. If you have not used them---do so. You will be convinced of their merit---and it will make you more loyal to your home community.

SOCIETY

To Mrs. Price.

Miss Nan Stephens' bridge party yesterday morning assembled twelve ladies to meet Mrs. T. Emory Price, of Philadelphia, and the occasion was one of delightful hospitality.

The game was played in the long music room, where violets from the home garden and lilies from the hothouse were a pretty suggestion of springtime, and the approach of Valentine day was heralded in the red hearts pierced with gold arrows, which decorated the score cards. The prizes, won by Mrs. Price and Mrs. W. E. Foster, were embroidered guest towels and a picture.

After the game a delicious luncheon was served at the card tables.

Miss Stephens wore a becoming gown of petunia velvet combined with charmeuse. Mrs. Price wore a smart gown of midnight blue charmeuse and crepe with a satin hat the same color, trimmed with French flowers. Miss Daisy Martin, assisting in entertaining, was gowned in blue taffeta.

Bridge Tea.

A happy hospitality was expressed in the bridge-tea given yesterday by Mrs. Bates Block, when a congenial group of ladies was assembled to meet Mrs. J. Marshall Johnston, of Macon, the guest of Mrs. Richard W. Johnston, and Mrs. W. E. Adams, of Madison, the guest of Mrs. J. O. Wynn.

The bridge prize at each table was an attractive picture, and the player making the lowest score at each table was presented a lemon fork holding a slice of lemon.

After the game tea and accompanying dainties were served in the dining room, the tea all the more refreshing in its service from a Russian samovar. A silver loving cup of pink roses, a big bow of pink tulle tied on one of the handles, was the table centerpiece and silver dishes were filled with tempting things to eat.

Mrs. Block was a lovely hostess, her gown of black tulle with finish in a becoming shade of blue.

Eminent Suffragist Writes Poem Dealing With Suffrage Cause

In a letter which Mrs. George Fort Milton, eminent suffrage worker of Chattanooga, Tenn., has written to Mrs. John M. Kenney, joint chairman of the Tennessee Equal Suffrage Campaign committee, the feelings of "just a woman," after endless battles for votes has been expressed, for probably the first time for "mere man" to see and read.

Mrs. Kenney, according to reports, wrote a letter to Mrs. Milton, although its contents cannot be ascertained. The reply from Mrs. Milton in verse was as follows:

Kenny, I'm wantin' to quit,
I'm tired of battles per jaws!
I'd faint at the sight
Of an inkpot all right,
And scream at more "laws" and "by-laws."
Believe me, I'm taking the bit,
And mean to kick out of the Cause.
I don't care a—rat
If we win, and all that,
I want to buck out—just "Because."

Kenny, I'm crazy to quit.
I've grip and the grouch—that's enough.
The props are knocked out
Of my suffragette spout,
I'm sick of the masculine stuff.
"Oh, mother—turn backward—tonight
And make me—again"—just a goose,
The "clinging vine" sort,
That's the thing that one ought
To affect—not a brain!—What's the use?

I sigh for that "place in the home"
While I eat in a railroad cafe.
The vote takes one minute,
If we could but win it,
But this suffrage war takes for aye.
I'm heart-sick and hoarse as a jay
And wornout with having to pray
"Our rights, men! Our rights!"
For a change gimme tights.
I'd rather stay home and crochet.

My house is a sight—so am I!
I've mislaid my "figure" and brush;
My bills are unpaid,
My fond friends have strayed,
And I rush in the goldurnest rush!
There's no time for nothin' at all,
But suffrage by night and by day.
It's too big to do
In a cycle or two—
Let's crawl out from under—and stay.

Kenny, think of it a bit:
Not to rush, nor to reason, nor plan;
Just to let things wag on
As they did years agone,
And leave all the blame upon—Man!
We offer to share half his load
And coddle the world like a kid,
But the slick politicians
And fools say, "Conditions
Would go all to smash," if we did.

Let's let them run things into smash!
Let's don't raise our hand to stop wars!
Let's not do the work
That the best of men shirk—
And give as our reason—"Because"
I crave some new clothes right away.
I want a sole day to myself,
To knead out the wrinkles,
And get back the twinkles
And be "Sweet" and "dear"—not an elf.

I pine just "to shine in the home"
And make my home shine as it should;
To play with my babies
And read "M. T. Daviess;"
And, best of all, be "understood."
I'm an old-fashioned woman at heart—
All women are, under the crust.
Why don't the men give US
The vote—trust it with us!—
And not spoil our good tempers fust?
—MRS. GEORGE FORT MILTON.

LABOR RAISES $252,130 FOR DANBURY HATTERS

Hartford, Conn., February 8.—Accumulated interest of $30,000 on the attached saving bank deposits of the 180 defendants in the famous Danbury Hatters' boycott litigation belongs to the defendants, according to a decision today by Federal Judge Thomas. The plaintiffs, D. E. Loewe & Co., had claimed they were entitled to all the interest that had accrued since the attachments were made thirteen years ago.

This sum, it is said in union circles here, will practically complete the amount needed to save the hatters' homes from being auctioned off to satisfy the judgment of $252,130 awarded D. E. Loewe & Co. by the United States supreme court. Organized labor throughout the United States recently undertook to raise the entire sum by subscriptions, but it is said that the amount was about $30,000 short.

MISS BOARDMAN PLEADS FOR THE RED CROSS

Washington, February 8.—Mabel T. Boardman, of the American Red Cross, before the house military committee today, urged provisions in the army bill for co-ordination of Red Cross work. Authority should be given the secretary of war, she said, to detail additional officers to the Red Cross, to extend greater aid in organization of hospital and supply columns for mobilization in war time, and to permit the construction of Red Cross warehouses on government reservations.

At the outbreak of the European war, Miss Boardman said, the French Red Cross divided into three branches was badly disorganized during the battle of the Marne when the army was losing three per cent of its personnel daily. Thousands of men who could have been saved, she said, died for lack of proper care.

The German Red Cross, on the other hand, worked smoothly and as a result 89.5 per cent of the wounded sent to hospitals returned to the front and the hospital death rate dropped to 1,7 per cent.

Miss Boardman described the Red Cross plans for its part in preparedness. Many thousand railway and lumber men had been given first aid training and could be mobilized as hospital orderlies. Six thousand trained nurses are already enrolled and several hospital columns are being organized.

Miss Boardman said the membership of the Red Cross was very small compared with Japan and Germany, but that a vigorous campaign was being waged for membership.

She said there were now approximately 30,000 members of the American Red Cross, against 1,800,000 members of the Japanese Red Cross, 1,000,000 in Germany and similarly large memberships in other foreign countries.

COULDN'T DO HER WORK

Says Condition Was So Serious Little Daughter Had to Take Charge of Work, But Cardui Helped.

Burbank, Fla.—"About a year and a half ago," writes Mrs. Florence Rogers, of this place, "I had got in very bad health. Everything was wrong. I couldn't eat anything that didn't make me suffer. . . . My limbs also gave me great pain and the pains in the limbs extended down to the knees. I, too, had awful pains in the back and was very thin and run-down in health; also, I had pains in the chest and stomach—was terribly nervous. Everything would startle me. . . .

An acquaintance told me of the great benefit she had received from Cardui. . . . so I thought I would try it inasmuch as I was in so serious a condition. I was so bad off I couldn't do my work. The little daughter had to take charge of the work, and I could hardly walk. . . .

I began using Cardui, and in about a week I felt much improved. . . . I got better right along, after taking the Cardui, getting better every day. In about two weeks after taking the Cardui I was able to do all my work except the washing. . . . In a month more I could do all my work, the washing, too. . . .

I have found it a great remedy and boon for women."

Ladies! Take Cardui for your troubles. For sale by all druggists.

SPRING STYLES

Women Are Alert for Spring Style Hints

They are on tip-toe of expectancy regarding Fashion's latest dictates.

Here are a few features for the well-dressed woman to regard in choosing her wardrobe.

A graceful, youthful figure. That will be the aim of every woman who wants to be in style this spring.

This does not mean that women will try to look like sixteen-year-old girls.

Rather, they will choose clothes that give graceful, youthful lines, lines that indicate the natural poise, activity and attractiveness of young womanhood.

Skillful tailoring has much to do with giving clothes the graceful curves of youth.

Style Points in Coats and Suits

The most approved of spring suits and coats show the incurve at the waist, without being close fitting, and with sharply flared, rippling pleats below the waistline.

Many jackets and coats have almost a wing-like flare. This feature is carried out in a smaller way in the flared cuffs which finish the new bell sleeves.

Plain materials and checks are preferred for suits. The plain fabrics are frequently ornamented with silk embroidery and inlays of taffeta.

For Sports Coats

There are novelty weaves of white wool and fancy coatings in the popular colors.

Skirts Still Short

As skirts are fuller, either in circular models or pleated, they give the smartest appearance when worn short. Eight inches from the ground is the most fashionable length. Even conservative women will wear their skirts six inches from the ground.

The short skirts call for very thin and genteel footwear.

The Illustration Shows

the new silhouette. This is a Wooltex Suit, one of many new models, awaiting your inspection here.

—Fourth Floor.

Your Personality

can find no happier means of expression than in the gowns you select and the clothes you wear. But charming and distinctive as they may be, they need the correct support of a perfectly fitting corset to emphasize all their good points and to give your personality the scope that it requires.

The Binner CORSET

is happily successful in giving to its wearer a grace and charm which are altogether a matter of correct corseting.

FIGHT IS OPENED ON PREPAREDNESS

Representatives of Farmers, Working People and Voting Women Warn Congress Military Committees to Go Slow.

Washington, February 8.—Pacifists, who said they represented the farmers, working people and voting women of the country, today warned senate and house military committees against being stampeded into what they termed unwarranted appropriations for military preparedness.

An anti-preparedness committee of which Lillian D. Wald, of New York, is chairman, introduced itself to the committees as an organization of American citizens formed to protest against a "dangerous program of military and naval expansion, to divert the public mind from those preparations for that world peace which it might be our country's privilege to initiate at the close of the war."

Opposition to war preparations also was voiced by John B. Lennon, treasurer of the American Federation of Labor; James H. Maurer, president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor; Mrs. Florence Kelley, Frank Dornblaser, of Texas, a director of the National Farmers' Union, and Sara Bard Fields, of the California Women Votters' association. A message also was read from Governor Capper, of Kansas, indorsing the plans of the committee which include a public investigation of past appropriations, investigation of the sources of the present demand for an increase in military expenditures and the elimination of private profit from armament manufacture.

Attacks Munitions Makers.

Mr. Maurer, who said he was a machinist who had been in constant touch with large organizations of laboring men, met with repeated applause from the crowd in the committee rooms, composed of about equal numbers of men and women. He spoke, he explained, not for organized labor, but for the working classes, and charged that the present call for arms was inspired by those who were making immense profits selling ammunition, and who, at the close of the European war, will want a large army and navy to enforce the collection of the money owed them by bankrupt nations.

"The working people will not consent to fight such a war," he said. "Instead of spending more money, I think congress had better investigate the money already spent. The people have believed we were prepared. We were told we were the greatest power on earth. Less than two years ago we were told we could beat Germany and Mexico at the same time.

"Now, suddenly, we are told our boats are old tubs, our army helpless. There were no rumors of war two years ago, when Germany and Austria were in the best condition of their history. If I felt now that these dying nations could thrash us, I would be ashamed to admit I was an American.

"We of the working classes who must fight these battles want to know what you know of them. President Wilson tells us there may be a great conflagration tomorrow. The American people want to know what danger they are in.

"If we fear Great Britain, why permit our American capitalists to continue to equip that nation with arms? The working men will refuse to be cannon fodder for their wars and then be called on to pay the bills, too. If it is right to take the working man's life, it is right to take the rich man's fortune. What is there for the West Virginia coal miners to fight for?

"The only way you can get the working men to enlist is to provide each one with the best possible rifle, a thousand rounds of ammunition and let them keep their arms in their homes. Then I'll promise there will be no invasion."

Mrs. Kelley repeated the demand for an investigation of past expenditures. "If money is squandered everywhere as it is in the old unnecessary army barracks, why should we give more?" she asked. "When we thought we were being prepared and safeguarded the money went into obsolete army barracks and inaccessible navy yards."

Dornblaser Speaks for Farmers.

Mr. Dornblaser said two million farmers were behind a resolution he presented demanding economy in the expenditure of funds, opposing an increase for an army or navy, approving a reasonable expenditure for coast guards and submarines and objecting to a large standing army or compulsory military service.

Miss Field attributed the opposition to preparedness reported to exist in the middle west to the advent of western women in politics. They realized the need of money for constructive things, she said, more than for war. She disputed an assertion of Senator Hitchcock that wars came without warning as a result of great national catastrophes or wrongs.

"They are spontaneous only to those who do the fighting," she said. "The capitalists and militarists know when they are coming. The records of the present war will show that the controlling classes knew as long as two years before almost to a day when the first move would be made."

John A. McSparin, of Furnace, Pa., representing the Pennsylvania state grange, declared the farmers of the country were against any unusual increase in appropriations for the army and navy.

"The rank and file in this country," he said, "are not afraid that they are going to be eaten up by some foreign nation. The fear of war seems to be taking hold of our people. Where have all of our millions for defense gone? If the fabulous sums we have appropriated have not been spent for defense of this country, how in the name of common sense can we prove that the millions now proposed to be spent will be spent properly for defense? Either congress has been putting up a stupendous bluff in this country, or else there is a darn sight more in this subject than we know."

Other representatives of the National Grange and Farmers' union also voiced what they said was the opposition of farmers to great army and navy appropriations.

Miles Denounces Continental Army.

Lieutenant General Miles, retired, denounced the continental army.

"It would be a very dangerous step toward centralization, that would put a tremendous power in some future president," he said. "It is un-American. Why try to Germanize the American people? You cannot Germanize American citizens."

General Miles praised the national guard, declared compulsory military service unnecessary, favored three-year enlistments, recommended a regular standing army of 140,000 or 150,000 men, and submitted an army reorganization plan of his own, contemplating recruiting a force of 1,200,000 men by expending the units of organization. He said it would be easily possible to raise 2,000,000 men, if necessary, in a reasonably short time.

General Miles said the conscript was not as good a soldier as the volunteer. He said that the United States was daily manufacturing more war materials than any two nations abroad are using in the same time, and that the experience in the Dardanelles shows that guns aboard ships are no match for fortifications and submarines.

"Overseas expeditions," he said, "always have been very expensive, and, as a rule, disastrous. To cross the Atlantic or Pacific oceans to land in the United States would be a very serious undertaking."

An enemy, he said, might be able to put a force of 400,000 men on its ships, but would never be able to land that number on United States shores.

NEUTRALITY TANGLE CAUSED BY CONTRACT

this respect, however, the rumor that Atlanta representatives of the allies have endeavored to intercept correspondence between Madame Van De Zande and her relatives at the front, is denied.

Prosecution Threatened.

The singer has been threatened with deprivation of her passports to return to Belgium, and Belgian officials have been emphatic in warning her that if she returned to her native country she would face prosecution on the European law that forbids affiliation of any character with a native of a hostile nation in time of war.

Her husband, Emil Van De Zande, recently encountered trouble in Washington when he appeared before the Belgian minister, Count Havenith, with a request for permission to tour the country lecturing on Belgium. He was denied on the grounds of his wife's connections with the Atlanta German.

The question was first opened by Leon De Waele, Belgian consul to New Orleans, who is said to have caused Madame Van De Zande much difficulty recently when she went to New Orleans to fill a concert engagement. Count De Waele's attention was attracted to her case by the name of Von Lawrence as her director on lithographs and other advertising material.

He communicated with Dr. May in Atlanta and the latter started an investigation, which was later taken up with Washington. It developed that the Belgian minister in Washington was, at the same moment, investigating the husband of Madame Van De Zande in regard to his wife's professional affiliation with the German nobleman.

The singer, who is staying with Mrs. W. H. Allen at 125 East Eleventh street, has been booked in many of the south's most important cities by Von Lawrenz, who, in connection with his orchestra agency, operates a booking organization. In time he has furnished Atlanta with such stars as McCormack, Melba, Kubelik and other famous artists. Madame Van De Zande is booked with Herr Halfdan Jebe, the Norwegian violinist-composer, under Von Lawrenz's direction. They have made a number of appearances in Atlanta.

Musical Director.

Von Lawrenz is orchestra director for the Capital City club, the Brookhaven, the Atlanta Athletic club and the Hotel Ansley. He has been a valuable aide to enterprises of the Atlanta Music Festival association. His residence in the city extends back more than four years.

Madame Van De Zande stated to a reporter for The Constitution Tuesday afternoon that she had undertaken at the time the neutrality complications arose to sever connections with Von Lawrenz, but to no avail, on account of her contract and of the number of bookings that were ahead for her and Herr Jebe.

She was brought to Atlanta several months ago, a refuge from Belgium, where she was engaged before the war to fill a season of grand opera engagements.

"I did not know that he was German," she told the reporter, "else I would have hesitated about becoming associated with him during time of war. I acted in perfectly good faith, and I can now only fulfill my contract, despite efforts to the contrary of representatives of my country. When that expires, it is hard to say what I will do."

She is a strikingly handsome woman of 40, who speaks only broken English. She has been a student of the arts since childhood, having studied under Henri Seguin, professor of the Royal Conservatory of Music at Liege; Madame Armand, of the Grand Opera of Paris, and other noted European instructors. She bears the medal of honor from the Royal Society of Grande Harmonie, of Brussels, and has appeared before European crowned heads on numerous occasions.

Readjustment Sought.

The women of the city who have, in a large measure, stood sponsor for the beautiful singer, making efforts to bring about an early adjustment of the situation. In the meantime, however, Von Lawrenz states that he is determined Madame Van De Zande shall fill her scheduled engagements.

"It is silly to accuse her or me," he told newspaper men last night. "Art and the professions know no nationalities. And more especially is it ridiculous to accuse us in a neutral country. Madame Van De Zande has acted in perfect faith with her countrymen. She is forced to earn her livelihood, and it is not their duty to interfere."

Von Lawrenz is a German baron. He studied at Heidelberg, but came to America in his early youth. He visited Berlin at the opening of the war in 1914, but returned to this country to continue his business operations.

Dr. May told reporters that he frankly was suspicious, and that he would advise Madame Van De Zande to immediately break with the German baron, otherwise suffer life-long complications with her country. He is awaiting instructions from the Belgian embassy in Washington.

GERALDINE FARRAR BRIDE OF TELLEGEN

Opera Singer and the Actor Are Wedded at Home of Farrar's Parents.

New York, February 8.—Geraldine Farrar, opera singer, and Lou Tellegen, actor, were married here at noon today at the home of Miss Farrar's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Farrar.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Leon A. Harvey, secretary at the Unitarian denominational headquarters in this city. Charles A. Ellis, manager of the Boston Symphony orchestra, and C. G. Childs, of Bala, Pa., friends of Mr. Tellegen and his bride, were among the few witnesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Tellegen plan to visit Hawaii and Japan at the close of their respective theatrical seasons.

CUBA WOULD RALLY TO THE UNITED STATES

Tampa, Fla., February 8.—Dr. Carlos Manuel de Cespedes, Cuban minister to the United States, who is representing President Monecal, of Cuba, here, assured the people of this country of Cuba's support in preserving the peace with honor of the western hemisphere. Mr. Cespedes addressed a large audience attending Cuba Day exercises at the South Florida fair.

We are united as a continent for peace, yet not afraid of war," he said. "Cuba needs peace for progress, but if ever the American nation should again call 'Remember the Maine,' the sentries on Morro castle will answer once more 'Viva la Cuba Libre' and we will fight together for the freedom of a continent if necessary."

BROWN AND WATSON TO ADDRESS FARMERS

Washington, February 8.—(Special.) Thomas E. Watson will address a gathering of farmers at Thomson, Ga., next Saturday, according to a statement made here today by J. J. Brown, state president of the Farmers' union, who will also be a speaker on that occasion.

Mr. Brown will speak Tuesday next at Sparta, on Wednesday at Eatonton, and on Thursday, the 17th, at Madison. He has been here this week attending a conference of farmers' union officials on legislation affecting rural credits, marketing and immigration.

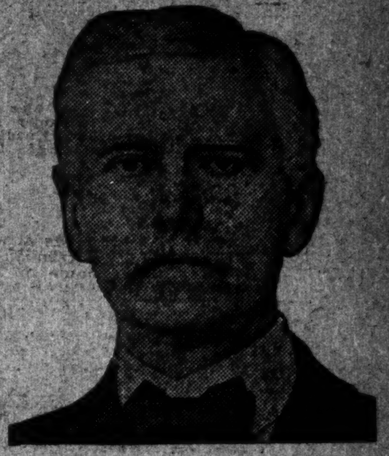
Well Known Remedy Relieves Chronic Case

Important to Dispose of Waste from the Stomach With Regularity

People frequently attribute to failure of the digestive organs conditions that are primarily due to inactive bowels, and apply remedies that from their very nature are more apt to aggravate than to relieve the disorder.

When the bowels act regularly the stomach is in better shape to perform its alloted task and can usually be depended upon. To keep the bowels in condition there is no more effective remedy than the combination of simple laxative herbs known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin which is sold in drug stores for fifty cents a bottle.

Dr. Caldwell has prescribed this remedy in his practice for over a quarter a century and it is today the standard household remedy in thousands of homes. Mr. Thos. DeLoach, with the Department of the Interior, Office of Indian Affairs, at Washington, wrote Dr. Caldwell recently that "Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the best laxative I have any knowledge of and the cleaning up guaranteed by its use relieves every organ."



MR. THOS. DeLOACH.

A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin should be on hand in every home for use when needed. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 454 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

AS TO FEDERAL INTERVENTION.

It will be recalled that some six or seven years ago a republican attorney general made himself rather unpopular by procuring a criminal indictment against the editors of The New York World and The Indianapolis News at Washington, and seeking to remove the defendants from their own homes to the District of Columbia for trial.

The incident is of peculiar interest in connection with the present case of Thomas E. Watson, whom a democratic attorney general is talking of removing to another jurisdiction for trial, because of an alleged violation of the postal laws which, if committed, must have been committed in Georgia, where Mr. Watson resides and where his paper is published.

In connection with the Watson case, The New York World, calling attention to the effort of Attorney General Bonaparte under the Roosevelt administration, says:

> What Attorney General Bonaparte attempted to do was to drag editors from their homes for trial in Washington or, as in the New York case, by a strained construction to gain federal jurisdiction in a complaint against a newspaper because a few copies of it had been delivered or sold on property owned by the government. What Attorney General Gregory threatens to do is the same thing in spirit and purpose—to pick from many jurisdictions one in which he thinks conviction will be certain, and then proceed against his victim under the postal laws with all the enginery of despotism. President Wilson's urgent duty is to forbid this indefensible use of power.

The New York Times, commenting upon the Watson case, predicts that the department of justice will probably reject the suggestion that Watson be indicted outside of the state of Georgia. It points out that attempts to drag editors to foreign jurisdictions for trial have found scant favor and have been usually attributed to revengeful motives. Such efforts have created presumption of desire to abridge the liberty of the press, and it is difficult to see where the federal government can have any such motive. Declaring that the government can have no justifying reason for transferring the procedure to another jurisdiction, and that it is "rather a perilous business," The New York Times says:

> The department of justice, it is said, has been assured that "it would not be possible to obtain a fair trial of the case in Georgia." Nobody is in position to give such assurance. There are two federal districts in Georgia. The case may be tried in the court of either. It is not to be hastily assumed that in any state in the union an offense committed there cannot be fairly tried there.

Of all the newspapers in the United States, it may be readily assumed, The New York Times and The New York World would be the last, perhaps, to enter into a personal defense of Mr. Watson in this particular case; and yet, viewing it strictly from the state standpoint, it will be apparent that they see the danger not alone to Georgia and her citizens, but to the citizens of other states and the states themselves, in this extraordinary proceeding.

Regardless of the fact that Georgia, through her failure to suppress lawlessness, as she should have done, may be said to have brought this threatened penalty upon herself, it is evident that the protest of the Georgia delegation in congress has given the department of justice something to think about, and up to date it has found it an exceedingly difficult matter in which to reach a decision.

Georgia must, and, we believe, will, stop this proceeding for the sake of the state. But Georgia, too, must mend her ways. Unless Georgia cleans her slate she may anticipate and prepare for federal intervention of a still more unwelcome type.

THE BUSINESS OF FARMING.

Much is being written of the farmer as a business man, and there are evidences that he is coming to be just that by conducting his farming operations on strictly business principles.

The Charlotte (N. C.) Observer says that the North Carolina farmer is now "more a business man," and is therefore "headed in the right direction;" and better business methods are being followed by farmers throughout the south. In this connection The Fort Worth (Texas) Star-Telegram says:

> There is no more reason why the farmer should not be a business man, or that he can succeed without resort to business principles, than that a merchant should hope to succeed without steady and strict adherence to fundamental business principles. The farmer has just as much intelligence as any other citizen. He is just as capable of becoming a common sense business man as anybody. When he becomes a business man a larger percentage of him will succeed than is true of men in other vocations of life. Moreover, when the farmer becomes a business man he will contribute in larger measure to the aggregate sum of human happiness than other men.

It is the "business" idea now that is making itself felt in all that is contributory to the growth and general prosperity of the farm; more young men are being educated to become scientific, business farmers, and wherever farm schools are in operation good work is being done, not only to keep the boys on the farm, but to equip with the efficiency which is as surely demanded on the farm as it is in all the other avocations of business life.

The man who said: "Since I've failed in other things, I'll try farming, for a change," is not in evidence now—to any extent; for he also knows that farming demands the best business talent—the ready, resourceful mind—in a word, educational preparedness.

OUR MERCHANT MARINE.

There is a direct menace to the commerce of the United States in the announcement just made in the British parliament that the whole British mercantile marine is now under government control, and that a special committee has been appointed to manage and direct the shipping problem.

Germany's merchant marine has always been under government control. It is the same with Japan and within the past few weeks France has made a large appropriation for the purchase or construction of additional vessels to carry on that country's commerce.

Here we are face to face with government control and direction of foreign shipping and transportation by four of the largest commercial nations of the world. Does anyone think for a moment that this country is going to compete successfully with these four great nations in world trade by leaving the matter wholly to private capital under our present adverse shipping laws?

It is inconceivable. Germany has attempted to urge the claim that it is this commercial situation which, more than anything else, is responsible for the hostility between herself and England. If European commercial competition has brought about the most gigantic war in world history, does it stand to reason that we can hope to compete in world commerce with laws that restrain rather than encourage private capital from entering the ocean transportation business?

Nor is there any assurance that, with the most liberal laws that congress might enact under present conditions, the United States would retain the trade it might momentarily acquire as a result of the present war.

England and other competitive nations will naturally be on the lookout to seize any good trade routes which this country might develop, even through the most liberal laws congress might enact. For, surely, for one thing, congress cannot enact laws which would compensate for the difference between the wages of American and foreign seamen.

But if it should prove impossible for us to meet this foreign competition on the high seas, it is certainly possible for us to make adequate provision for the transportation of our own products to the ports of those nations that want them and are waiting for them. We can at least provide for the delivery of our own goods to those who have bought them and want them.

This is what congress is asked to do now. And because this provision has not been made our wharves and warehouses are piled high with goods, railroad yards are blocked to overflowing with loaded cars and we are threatened with industrial stagnation unless we provide some means for sending these goods to the customers who have bought them.

The Constitution repeats that if it can do nothing else congress can at least provide temporary relief by converting army transports into commercial vessels, and, if necessary, even the cruisers themselves which are idling at anchor and "eating their heads off."

It is a situation for which an early remedy must be provided, or congress will find a severe reckoning on its hands when the crisis, now apparent, becomes real.

Villa isn't a "crisis"—he's just a cuss-word.

When the treasury is empty, it's then that Carranza sighs for notes from us.

Why shouldn't the Ford people take the lecture platform? It's the only way to get even with the people who have lectured them.

Prophets of the early end of the war are in despair over the latest news—that England is just beginning to begin to fight.

Evidently, the Greek king's physician has ordered the rest cure for his voice.

Mars is approaching the earth and will probably be amazed to discover that we are still on the war map.

An Open Letter to the Democratic Executive Committee of Georgia

To the Democratic Executive Committee of Georgia—Gentlemen:

As you perhaps know, I am a member of the progressive party, but I am writing you this letter as man to man, Georgian to Georgian, and southerner to southerner. The two things today that are most essential to the welfare of the south are perpetuation of white supremacy and a broader national life. To make sure of those two things, I suggest that when you meet to call your state and county primary that you announce that it is to be:

First.—A white primary held by the democratic party of Georgia for the nomination of county and state officials.

Second.—That every white man, regardless of his past or present party ties, who is qualified under the laws of Georgia to vote at a regular election, can vote in said primary, provided by so voting, he pledges himself to uphold white supremacy and abide the result of said primary, supporting in the general election the candidates nominated.

Third.—That any man qualified to vote as above stated is also at liberty to run for office in said primary for any state or county position, provided at the time of his announcement he qualify as above and states his national party affiliations.

Fourth.—That it is agreed by all men, of all parties, who participate in this state and county primary that so long as a democrat is nominated for governor by the primary, it shall be the right and privilege of the democratic executive committees to call and supervise the next primary for state and county officers; but when any other party nominates the governor, then the executive committees of his party will call and supervise the following state and county primary. In case an independent is nominated for governor the executive committees that held the primary in which he was nominated will hold the one following.

Fifth.—In case of one or more candidates running belonging to the same party, the leading candidate of the leading party shall be declared the nominee, if necessary the leading candidate in the two leading parties can run in a second primary, all others being barred, and thus making sure of the choice of the people.

Sixth.—In national elections each party shall hold its own primary or nominating convention, and this white primary binds no one nationally.

There is a rough draft of a system that can be perfected in every detail, and that will fairly and equitably take care of the voter and yet conserve our home government in the south, and at the same time give us the broadest national liberty, the two things we must have if the south is to keep abreast of other sections of the country.

If you, gentlemen, will adopt this plan, you will do more for this state and section than has been accomplished in ten years as the result of any other effort.

I am thoroughly conscious of the fact that it is the height of presumption for a member of one party to suggest to another party how it shall conduct its affairs. If you are going to consider this matter from a strictly selfish, party standpoint you will ignore this letter. But if you consider it from a broad, patriotic, southern standpoint you will adopt it, for nine-tenths of the voters of the state want just this thing, regardless of their party affiliations on national questions.

Thoughtful men are now asking themselves and each other why should we sweep into office men who do not represent our views on national issues, simply to vindicate ourselves on the question of white supremacy; has not that question been positively and definitely settled for years?

Do you gentlemen believe that the political and racial conditions in the south make it necessary that the vast majority of the white men in the south vote one way in state and county elections? If so, give them a white primary and thus establish a system for local matters, against which no federal election law can ever prevail. If you don't think there is any necessity for a majority of the white voters settling county and state matters among themselves, then (in the absence of any opposing party) any primary is a useless expense on candidates and a waste of time for the voters, as the entire matter could be settled at the general election. Respectfully,

JAMES L. SIBLEY.

Unpreparedness to Care for Drug Addicts of Our Country

Editor Constitution: National preparedness or unpreparedness is the all-absorbing question of the hour for America, in case of war with any great power. I am not in a position to discuss this war question, so I am willing to leave it to President Wilson, the cool, level-headed, golden-hearted statesman and Christian gentleman, whose ever watchful eye will guide the old ship of state through the breakers, clear the reefs and bring her safely into the harbor of peace. I am willing to pin my faith and the destiny of our beloved country to Mr. Woodrow Wilson.

Now, as to our unpreparedness to care for the poor, unfortunate morphine addicts. These people are among all classes, and every walk and vocation of life. They are not users of this insidious drug from preference, nor did the majority of them become addicts from their own choosing. They took it first, no doubt, to relieve pain; or maybe some doctor gave them the first dose, they probably not knowing what they were taking. Nor did they know, when they began, what a severe matter it was, and how hard it would be to throw off the yoke that would wreck their health, their homes, their fortunes and their happiness. Of all people they are the most miserable.

The habit comes as a thief in the night, and steals from them not only their purse, for that would be mere trash compared with their honor and their integrity. It becomes a disease that undermines and destroys the man, and he is helpless to throw it off, even as full of good resolution as the starry canopy of heaven is full of stars. As often as he tries to rise, just so often he fails, and each fall weakens him for another effort.

Increase of Drug Addicts Alarming.

The United States congress has passed the Harrison act, or the anti-narcotic law, for which we are very grateful, for this drug habit was stealing its way into the very hearts of our nation. It is estimated that one per cent of the people of the United States are addicts, and so on the increase that it had become alarming. When this act was passed no one had any idea of the number of addicts, or the amount of suffering it would produce, nor does the laity yet know. If they did, they would come to the rescue of these unfortunates.

Congress passed the law forbidding the use and sale of narcotics, except in a legitimate way, as prescribed by a doctor with good intentions. It also inflicts punishment for a violation of this law, but it failed to make any provision for the treatment or care of the sufferers. It seems to me that at this point they fell short. The addicts cannot cure themselves, and if they cannot get the drug, what will become of them?

We American people are kind-hearted, generous, forgiving and sympathetic, and when we see a fellow-brother down, our first impulse is to raise him to his feet, carry him to the nearest inn, put money in his hand, and wish him well. The federal government has failed to make any appropriation for the care of these people, but has left it to each individual city, county or state. I am a state rights man, and feel quite sure our dear old state of Georgia can and will provide for her own.

The last Georgia legislature stepped off on the right foot, and made a very small appropriation for a home where these people could be treated and cared for; but the appropriation was so small that no practical use could be made of it. I have had no little experience with this class of patients, and my idea of how and where they should be treated is not in accord with the present arrangement.

What Should Be Done.

The state should buy a farm in the rural districts, accessible to a railroad station, and thus remove them from any and all temptations, and have something to reach and every one to do, according to his or her ability. There is no tonic so fine as pure water, fresh air and sunshine. They should not be confined inside the walls of any sanitarium or hospital. They should not be shackled and treated as prisoners, with stripes and taskmasters, but should be treated humanely and kindly, but made to stay in the open air when weather and conditions permit.

There is nothing so good for them as physical exercise in the open air, where they can develop their flabby muscles, whet their appetites and give them something to think and talk of except their misery and unhappiness. These are very unfortunate people, and no one wants them in their employ. They are, however, of our own flesh and blood, and humanity demands that we treat them as such and provide a home of refuge and reclaim them to society and usefulness in the community from which they came.

It takes years of care, trouble, training and anxiety to raise children to manhood or womanhood, and only a few weeks to destroy and wreck them. Establish a home that will be worthy of our state, and thus relieve suffering humanity, and future generations will rise up and call us blessed. It is suggested that the legislature may not make another appropriation for this purpose, believing that in a very short time this evil will be stamped out, and we will soon have no addicts to treat. I hope this may be true; but they are continually being made, and it will take another generation to eradicate it.

Our efficient internal revenue collector, Mr. Bialock, is making an honest effort to check this evil, and is making great progress with the co-operation of most of the doctors and druggists; but he has a herculean task on his hands that won't be accomplished in his day and generation. So let's make a permanent home for these unfortunate addicts, and thus relieve our state sanitariums.

CHAPTER 12.

Self-flattery does not compensate for the annual deaths of nearly 400,000 children under ten years of age.

Alfred W. McCann.

When nearly 400,000 children under ten years of age die in the homes of our nation in one year, what is to be said about the living, those who still maintain the minimum of vitality necessary to keep them from crossing the line?

When the grim reaper Death holds such a harvest, what are his attendants —Disease and Pain — doing in the field of humanity?

The evils that resulted in the deaths of nearly 400,000 children in the United States during one year had some effect, surely, upon those children whose vitality was still a little too vigorous to surrender completely as the occupants of the little white caskets had done before them.

What is the effect of those evils? What is the actual condition of the school children of the present day?

All over America and Europe public school children are being examined by physicians in search of disease. Half the children in a school in the slums of Leeds were found by Dr. Hull to be suffering from rickets, a result of lime and phosphorus starvation. How came that so? We shall see.

In the Edinburgh schools 40 per cent of the children were found to be suffering with diseases of the ear, a result of general systemic disorder brought about by insufficient food of the right kind or an abundance of food lacking in nutritive value.

Of such food, which may be adequately described as foodless food, there are tons now being consumed by the school children of America. If the consumption of such foodless foods is followed by results prejudiced to the health of the little ones we must know what those results are.

Of the 10,500 school children the British Dental association found 86 per cent suffering from defective teeth, the result of a diet lacking in mineral elements upon which the bones and teeth depend for their existence. Those who refuse to accept this statement must deal with the results of the experiments of Dr. Geis, of Columbia university, in his analysis of the mineral content of defective teeth.

In the Dundee schools 50 per cent of the children were found to be suffering from defective vision. In Alameda, Cal., the superintendent of schools says that out of 3,600 pupils more than 300 are afflicted with physical defects observable to the layman.

Mayor Fitzgerald, of Boston, in the month of December, 1911, announced the results of the first three months' work conducted by Dr. William J. Gallivan, chief of the division of child hygiene of the Boston board of health.

The school physicians under Dr. Gallivan examined 42,750 children and only 14,957, a little more than one-third, were found to be in a condition that could be called healthy; 27,795 of the children examined were described as "defective."

In this historic center of the learning and culture of the United States an investigation covering three months discovered among the children of the schools 19,518 cases of defective teeth, 9,738 cases of diseased tonsils, 3,509 cases of skin disease, 575 cases of rickets and 1,611 cases of malnutrition.

The bureau of medical research reports that "in rural as well as in city schools nearly one in three have trouble with the eyes; nearly one in five are mouth-breathers, because of abnormal growths in the air passages, besides many who are obviously predisposed to tuberculosis and nervous trouble."

At the annual meeting, June, 1913, of the Second District Dental society of New York, Dr. A. Freedman Foot reported on the work done by the new municipal dental clinic of New York city, which has been operating since the first of January, 1913.

Up to that time 1,694 children in New York city had been registered in the six clinics, two of which are in Manhattan, three in Brooklyn, and one in the Bronx.

Of these 1,694 school children only eleven were found to possess normal teeth.

Dr. Foot's report, which was alarming in the extreme, stated: "The six-year molars of nearly every child were broken down wholly or in part, and in a great many instances the molars were decayed through the gums. Where it was not already too late these molars were drilled and filled with gutta-percha.

"At the lowest estimation more than 60 per cent of all the children examined possessed defective teeth. In many instances the defects were so extensive and far advanced that corrective treatment, even if it could have been applied, would have been of little value."

Well indeed may this report ask the question, "What will be the future health chances of such children?" Are they to be useful to society or a drag upon the race? How does it look to you?

The American teeth of today are among the poorest on earth, in spite of the fact that the diet of the American people is said to contain a greater variety of foods than that found in any other nation of the world. Alas! such flattery does not compensate for the annual deaths of nearly 400,000 children under ten years of age in the United States alone.

Dr. T. Van Winkle, of the department of health, examining the teeth of 231,081 New York city children outside the dental clinics, found 131,747 defective. A special examination of the teeth of 500 school children between the ages of fourteen and sixteen selected at random revealed 486 defective cases.

In this respect the discoveries of Dr. Geis concerning the mineral deficiencies of starved teeth will receive attention in their proper place. We are now moving rapidly, but we must not go too fast.

(Chapter 13 Tomorrow.)

The Best Is the Cheapest In Paving Materials

Editor Constitution: Your editorial in this morning's paper on "A Big National Job" very aptly sounds the proper warning. I know of no branch of engineering so woefully abused by the country at large as street and highway paving. In order to encourage those who are willing to bear the burden of taxation for street and highway paving why not give them the worth of their money?

It is not an uncommon sight to see signs of disintegration even before the pavement has been entirely completed. Paving materials are now so well understood there is no longer an excuse for a city or county engineer to use an unsuited material or a suitable material in a careless construction. This is why our cities and counties are not more universally paved. If our officials would give the technical supervision to the buying and compounding of paving materials which their importance demands it would not be an endless task to get our streets and highways paved.

It is not the first cost of a pavement of which the tax-payers complain, but to the unworkmanlike appearance of the new pavement, its shortness of life and the frequency of renewals. No pavement is worth putting down which will not give at least six years of service with light repairs. All pavements costing over $2.25 per square yard should last with but light repairs for at least ten years; one which would cost $2.75 per square yard should last fifteen years, and one which would cost $3.00 per square yard should give satisfactory service for twenty years.

There is no better investment than a first-class pavement. It adds to the earning capacity not only of horse and traffic machinery, but also of every acre of land, as proven in your advertisements by the prices charged for lands located on "a well paved road." The same holds true on city property. Texas sets a correct pace for all other states; her counties, by increasing their pay, call the highest salaried municipal engineers from the large cities to superintend the construction of their public highways. Once completed, their highways will be well paved for years to come and their costs so distributed over a long period of time are not burdensome.

The best advice I can give our city and county officials is to let "the other fellow" do the experimenting with untried paving materials. Nowhere does the old adage, "the best is the cheapest," so aptly apply as in reference to paving.

THE MOVIES ON HIGH.

How we love to watch the clouds scurrying by,
Making cloud-pictures against the blue sky.
There is the mountain all covered with snow,
And the shepherd and sheep, how quickly they go;
Till at last every lamb is lost in the fold
That is merged in the mountain as onward it rolled.
And the mountain, all broken, falls into the sea
And goes off into mist—like a vail o'er the lea.
But angels are coming from out the soft blue,
And, like visions of heaven, they float into view.
How they beckon to us from their home in the sky,
But vainly we answer, as they swiftly go by—
And they, too, are lost in the infinite space,
While still other beautiful figures we trace.
Here comes the hunter, with hounds at his back,
But soon they lose shape, and are gone from the track.
There's the king on his throne, with scepter and crown;
Tho' exalted so high, he, too, must come down.
There is old Mother Goose with the children at play;
But they, like the others, are passing away.
There are beasts of the field, and birds of the air;
They are going, yea, going, but who can say where?
These are wonderful pictures—these movies on high,
Like cameo films on the blue vaulted sky.
When we feel sad and lonely, and weary our brain,
How restful to watch this fast-moving train.
Perhaps a loved image we sometimes may trace,
But ere we can grasp it 'tis gone into space.
But oh! what a longing to see and to know
The face of a dear one in the soft twilight glow.
From memory's casket we focus our eye
To transcribe the loved face on the blue of the sky.
So real it seems, that introspective we start
To find 'tis the picture engraved on our heart.
And thus the cloud-pictures are moving away
Till lost in the light of the infinite day.

SLATON RECOUNTS GLORIES OF GEORGIA

In Address at Dinner of Young Rockefeller's Bible Class—Ex-Governor Lauds Toombs and the State Constitution.

New York, February 8.—(Special.)—The nineteenth annual dinner of the Young Men's Bible class of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church, commonly known as John D. Rockefeller, Jr.'s Bible class, was held this afternoon at the Aldine club.

The guests of honor were William H. Taft, ex-president of the United States; Charles M. Schwab, president of the Bethlehem Steel corporation; John M. Slaton, ex-governor of Georgia; Arthur Woods, police commissioner of New York, and Edward J. Cappell, business expert of Philadelphia.

Toombs and Georgia Constitution.

Mr. Slaton chose as his subject "What Is Real Progress?" During the course of his address he made frequent references to Georgia. He said, in part:

"It was Robert Toombs, an old-fashioned Georgian, pronounced in conviction, positive in speech, but wise in statesmanship, who shaped the constitution of our state (Georgia). No passing fad dictated its provisions. That stern instrument inhibited any increase of the bonded debt of the state, commanded its annual diminution, required each year's income to pay the appropriations of that year and pledged every dollar of the state's property to the payment of its bonded obligations. In its hard provisions was found no consolation at aerial legislation, rich only in theories, for the expenditure of other people's monies. Many good citizens thought it too inflexible and old-fashioned. But in March of last year, when the European war depressed commerce and impoverished our people, when money was fearful and shrinking, and when it became necessary to refund the bonds of the state and the bravest doubted our ability to meet the situation, this rigid constitution with its eternal principles was our salvation.

Georgia Bonds In Demand.

"At a time when a conspicuous member of the New York constitutional convention declared that easy incurrence of debt had nearly driven its great metropolis into bankruptcy, this legislation of Georgia attracted the financiers of the nation to bid for her bonds, and they thronged the executive office in heated contest for the securities of a state whose fundamental laws guaranteed their redemption. And a native of the state, acquainted with her history and trusting in the integrity of her people as reflected in the legislation, outbid the bankers of the north and east and at a price that surpassed that paid for the bonds of New York. He bought them all, and, for the first time in our history, a citizen taught the world that Georgia need appeal to her people alone.

"No new and untried theory of government occasioned it, no pyrotechnic and spectacular innovation begat the confidence. No South sea island bubble, whose iridescent hues charmed only to deceive, but a constitution written by old-fashioned Georgians, wise in the history of nations and learned in the proverbs of Solomon, proved a benediction to the state.

"There are those who believe that progress is to be achieved by legislation and they would multiply acts under until they became as numerous as the words of the Koran. The principle of fewness of laws is despised and through some legerdermain they invest acts of the legislators, whose individual opinions they would spurn, with some peculiar divinity. What greater asset has a state than a hardy, brave, independent citizenry accustomed to do right by 'self-convincing standards of right and wrong,' instead of acting under compulsion of conventional rules?

Initiative Unshackled.

"Independent initiative has remained unshackled and within her borders her youth, unshackled by usurpation of governmnt, finds before him the course of life where the race is to the swift and the battle is to the strong.

"Her legislators have been tempted by no issues of irresponsible or sinister theorists, which, like the dulcet notes of the piper of Hamlin, lead but to destruction. Her lawmakers have largely come from the rural districts, where the old farmer, in viewing, after his days of toil, the acres where repose his loved ones, respects the rights of property and has learned in his church the eternal laws to which must yield the petty controversies of all legislatures and parliaments.

"The spirit needed today is that of reverence—an abiding faith in principle, a willingness to suffer for it, an unshaken confidence that wrong, though triumphant for the moment, portends inevitable disaster. The day of reckoning may be long postponed, but it is the heavier when it does arrive."

VINSON LEADING FIGHT ON HENRY L. JOHNSON

Washington, February 8.—(Special.) A successor to Henry Lincoln Johnson, colored, of Atlanta, in the office of register of deeds of the District of Columbia, will not be named by the president, but by the district commissioners, if a bill which Representative Vinson will report in the house next Monday is passed.

Mr. Vinson will make the fight for the change, and will insist that a white man be named for this position. Several white women, under the civil service, work in the office of the register of deeds, and Mr. Vinson insists the head of the office should be white.

T. W. HARBIN MAKES POLITICAL SPEECH IN CATOOSA COUNTY

Ringgold, Ga., February 8.—(Special.) Hon. T. W. Harbin, of Calhoun, Ga., who is making the race for congress against Gordon Lee in the seventh district, spoke in the interest of his candidacy here today. Court is in session and a large number of voters were present to hear him. Mr. Harbin gave a clear-cut statement of his platform and made a good impression on his hearers.

T. W. HARBIN,
Of Calhoun, candidate for congress in the seventh district.

It Was Wonderful Dream, But Failed to Impress Police Court Recorder

ACT I.

Time and place: 6:30 a. m.; police barracks, cell No. 3. Uncle Jeff Whitney, turnkey on the day watch, hears noise of heavy thud against steel floor in cell 3. Goes to that cell and finds L. G. Jacobs, resident of Echo street, locked up the previous evening charged with being drunk, lying prone on the floor.

ACT II.

Time and place: 8:30 a. m.; recorder's court. "Judge I was dreaming," said Jacobs. "I dreamed the most wonderful dream you ever heard of. I was flying over the heart of London in a Zeppelin dropping bombs on the people and watching them run out of the houses in pajamas.

"There was one man I couldn't hit. He had blue whiskers and the more I tried to drop a bomb on him the better he dodged. Finally I leaned so far out of the Zeppelin that I fell. I dropped through space seemingly for an eternity until finally I hit. I opened my eyes and Mr. Whitley was picking me up. I had fallen out of my bunk."

After whispering to Judge Jimmy Meade relative to the probable effects of several known brands of "blind tiger," Recorder Johnson turned solemnly to Jacobs and fined him $5.75.

No "Jay Walkers" Now On Great "Black Way;" 51 Negroes Are Fined

Just a dollar and "six bits" and a warning not to "jay walk" in the future was all the penalty fifty-one negro Darktown residents received in police natinee Monday afteroon.

Only two out of the whole fifty-one were sent to the stockade by the recorder, as they were the only ones who could not scrape up the necessary $1.75.

Since the swoop by Kilpatrick and Blazer, Decatur street has changed as if by magic.

Instead of being one wide playground for patrons of negro movies and near beer stands, all the playing is now restricted to the sidewalks.

BIG BUILDING LEASED FOR GARAGE PURPOSES

A real estate lease announced yesterday disclosed the news that Atlanta is to have another modern auto garage and repair shop, which will be centrally located.

Wilson Bros. realty agency has leased for Dr. Norcross to the Edgar Garage company the three-story and basement building at No. 66 Fairlie street, corner of James street, directly in the rear of the Ansley hotel, for a term or years, although the consideration was not disclosed.

The new central garage will have 20,000 feet of storage space and a large elevator has been installed. In order to keep the engines of machines from freezing in extremely cold weather a steam heating plant has been installed. Thousands of dollars have been spent for the most modern machinery, which is being placed in the repair shop on the second floor. A modern sanitary washer, the only one of its kind in the south, has been acquired. Tom Edgar is manager of the new garage.

AUGUSTA CANCELS WHARF CONTRACTS

Augusta, Ga., February 8.—(Special.) On the charge that the Georgia Contracting company, building the wharf terminals, had padded its payrolls at an expense to the city of $100 a week or more than should have been charged, council last night made void the contract between that company and the city. E. L. Garretson, representing the company, was present and admitted that he had charged the city in excess of what he had paid labor, but claimed that he was within his rights in doing so. The contract called for the erection of the terminals at 10 per cent above cost—that is, the city is to pay for all material and labor and the contractor is to receive as remuneration 10 per cent more than these actual costs.

During the discussion the fact appeared that the wharves have already cost the city about $28,000, yet the work is but one-third completed. The appropriation for the entire work is $25,000.

FRATERNAL BODY HOLDS AN ENJOYABLE BANQUET

The local organization of the National Union, a fraternal insurance organization, held a class banquet at the Piedmont hotel last night, terminating the initiation of a class of fifty-four members. J. L. Mayson acted as toastmaster, and among the speakers were F. E. Ferguson, E. C. Buchanan, E. A. Myers, G. H. Kirby and W. H. Jones.

Injured in Auto Crash.

Thomasvile, Ga., February 8.—(Special.)—Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Pringle, Misses Nell and Florence Pringle and James Pringle were painfully, though not seriously, hurt and their car was wrecked late Sunday afternoon when the car of Mr. Donday ran into them. The accident seemed to be the result of a misunderstanding on the part of Mr. Donday.

NO FIGHT BREWS AGAINST WILSON

Democratic Leaders Say the President Will Be Renominated Without Opposition. Arranging for Convention.

St. Louis, February 8.—That President Wilson would be renominated without opposition was the consensus of opinion of members of the subcommittee of the democratic national committee, who met here today to arrange details for the democratic national convention.

The committeemen agreed in advance of the meeting not to select a temporary chairman today, and that task probably will not be taken up until May. Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, however, is being discussed as a possible choice for temporary chairman, the committeemen thinking it would be fitting that the state in which the convention is held should furnish the temporary presiding officer.

Senator William J. Stone, of Missouri, and Speaker Champ Clark also were mentioned as possibilities for the temporary chairmanship of the convention.

The committee met shortly before noon in executive session and this afternoon inspected the coliseum, considering desirable alterations.

Robert Ewing, publisher of The New Orleans States, was appointed chairman of the press committee for the convention, and James Preston, sergeant-at-arms of the press gallery of the United States senate, was appointed vice chairman.

Chairman McCombs said to newspaper men today that President Wilson would be renominated, and that no opposition to him had developed in any quarter.

The committee adopted a resolution to invite former national committeemen to attend the convention as honor guests.

A number of subcommittees appointed today will continue their meetings here tomorrow.

Another meeting of the committee on arrangements will be held in New York city in about six weeks Mr. McCombs said. Early in May this committee will open permanent headquarters in St. Louis with J. Bruce Kremer, of Montana, in charge.

Wilson to Announce.

Washington, February 8.—President Wilson's closest advisers expect him to make the first formal announcement of his candidacy for renomination within the month, when they believe Mr. Wilson will notify the secretary of the state of Ohio that the voters of the state will have his consent to use his name in the primary.

Under the Ohio law a candidate is required to notify the secretary of state before February 25 of his willingness to have his name used in the primary. The president has been formally notified of the law's provision.

The president has made no definite announcement of whether he would be a candidate, even to his friends, as far as is known, but they all take it as settled that he will be.

Name on Indiana Ballot.

Indianapolis, Ind., February 8.—On the authority of Secretary Tumulty, President Wilson's name was placed on the Indiana primary ballot as the only candidate for the democratic nomination for president on January 7, the last day for filing for candidates. Democratic leaders called Secretary Tumulty on the long distance telephone and the latter authorized the filing of Mr. Wilson's name. The primary will be held March 7.

CASHIER ABSENT, SALE CITY BANK CLOSES ITS DOORS

Moultrie, Ga., February 8.—The Farmers and Merchants' bank, a state institution at Sale City, did not open for business today. A state bank examiner began work on the books when it was reported several days ago that L. T. Brown, cashier, was not in town.

An official of the bank stated today that depositors probably would be paid in full, but said nothing as to conditions found by the bank examiner. The bank was capitalized for $15,000.

The bank hopes to resume business in a few days. It is said that Brown's bond will cover any alleged shortage on his part. When Brown left Sale City a week ago he declared that he was going to Sparta and his failure to ever show up there resulted in a man being sent here to look into the affairs of the institution. Soon after the arrival of the auditor he notified the state bank examiner's office and a man to take charge of the bank was at once sent to Sale City.

It was admitted tonight that a shortage of several thousand dollars had already been revealed. Brown was about 26 years old and is said to have been playing the cotton market recently.

CHANGE MADE IN BILL AT FORSYTH THEATER

Owing to a last minute change the place assigned to Charles Inness and Maude Ryan on the Forsyth Keith vaudeville bill this week is being filled by McGowan and Gordon, the former two being booked to appear on next week's program. The change was made after the programs had gone to press and for that reason the impression at the opening performances was that Inness and Ryan were playing this week.

CONTINUANCE OF GOOD WEATHER IS PROMISED

At the close of a day that had been unusually balmy, the weatherman announced last night that Wednesday would be fair and even warmer than Tuesday.

This means that Atlanta will bask in genuine May temperature. The descent of the mercury that was threatened Monday night failed to develop, and no cold wave is yet in sight.

Rising temperatures prevail over the entire states.

SEATS WILL BE PUT ON SALE THURSDAY BY THE ATLANTA

Thursday morning seats will be placed on sale at the Atlanta theater for the mid-winter season of Grand opera, which will be given Friday and Saturday, February 18 and 19, by the Boston Grand Opera company and the Pavlowa Ballet Russe, the two appearing simultaneously. The event promises to be the most important social and musical affair of the month, and the Atlanta will doubtless be packed to its capacity at each of the three performances.

The Boston Grand Opera company is one of the two famous organizations of America, while Mme. Pavlowa is incomparable. The appearance of the two organizations simultaneously gives a blend of the drama, music and terpsichore never before attempted in the country. The performances have been greeted with great enthusiasm in all of the larger cities of the east and the middle west. Only four cities are played in the south, three of these under the same character of guarantee as is given the Metropolitan here.

The repertoire of the two companies in Atlanta consists of "L'Amore Dei Tre Re" (the Love of Three Kings) Friday night, to be followed by Mme. Pavlowa and the ballet russe in "Snowflakes." Giovanni Zenatello will appear as Avito in this opera. He is the most noted tenor of the world with the exception of Caruso, and is the latter's only rival. Saturday matinee "Madam Butterfly" will be given, with Tamaika Miura in the leading role, supported by Riccardo Martin and a fine cast, with Mme. Pavlowa appearing in a special performance. Saturday night will see "La Boheme" sung with Maggie Teyte as Mimi and Mme. Pavlowa appearing with her company in the Spanish dances.

Already the mail has brought hundreds of orders from out of town, and one of the largest crowds ever attracted from a distance to the Atlanta is expected to join Atlantans in paying tribute to the famous notables of the two companies.

Patrolman's Bullet Puts an Abrupt End To Burglar's Breakfast

Patrolman Alewine, who works South Pryor street on the morning watch, brought a speedy termination to an early morning breakfast which a burglar was enjoying in the Dixie cafe, 67 South Pryor street, early Tuesday by a timely shot through the cafe window.

The officer was patrolling his beat when he noticed that something unusual was going on in the lunch room. Going to a window he saw that an intruder was making himself at home and "at breakfast" with a sandwich. Patrolman Alewine fired his revolver at the man, who dropped his sandwich and took to his heels out a back door.

Nothing was missing but several sandwiches.

BURGLAR ESCAPES WITH FELDER'S SUIT

Although he succeeded in getting away with a suit of clothes, a burglar who entered the residence of Colonel T. B. Felder, 156 Peachtree circle, had a narrow escape early Tuesday morning, when Mrs. Felder, armed with a revolver, went to investigate his presence in her room.

The early morning marauder had entered the Felder residence by way of a front window. Mrs. Felder heard him as he was going down the hall, and, going to a bureau drawer, obtained the weapon and started after him.

The man ran upon hearing sounds of pursuit, but that didn't stop Mrs. Felder from the chase. She pursued him to the front porch and then, going back to her room, awakened Mr. Felder, who followed the man up the street.

Call Officers Jones and McWilliams, who answered a hurry call to Peachtree circle, were unable to find any trace of the man.

The Shuberts leased the Grand several years ago until 1920. It is property of the H. L. DeGive estate.

RAILROAD COMMISSION HEARS PLEA OF SOUTHERN TO RE-LOCATE

The state railroad commission offices were crowded Tuesday with a large number of people who came to attend the hearing of the commission upon the petition of the Southern railway to re-locate and double track its line for about twenty-five miles, running south from the state line. The railroad seeks to straighten out the curves in its line and reduce the grades. Straightening the line will involve removal of the road bed for several thousand feet from its present location in some instances. While there was a great deal of sentiment displayed at the hearing from people along the route of the proposed change favorable to the changes, there were several strenuous objections raised.

Colonel H. H. Dean, of Gainesville, appeared representing T. O. Parker and others, of Mt. Airy, owners of property through which the road runs there. At Mt. Airy the original plan was to move the road bed about 4,000 feet from its present location. This met with some objection and a compromise was struck whereby the road would be moved only about 1,000 feet.

Mayor D. N. Carter, of Mt. Airy, appeared representing the city and citizens of Mt. Airy. He stated that the interests he represents are not opposed to the change as now proposed. There was also present a large delegation of citizens from Mt. Airy.

J. T. Shackleford, of Athens, appeared representing himself and his brother, F. C. Shackleford, owners of 360 acres on the Southern's line at Deercourt. He objected to the proposed change of the location of the road there.

Furmor Barrett, of Toccoa, representing Mrs. White, who owns property fronting about 4 miles on the Southern line at Deercourt, stated that his client had no objection to the proposed changes.

The Southern was represented by H. W. Miller, vice president, and Attorney Sanders McDaniel.

SEEK TO TAKE FROM RECEIVER STATE BANK AT SYLVANIA

Attorney General Clifford Walker was at Metter, Ga., Tuesday representing the state in the petition of creditors and stockholders of the Citizens' and Screven County bank, at Sylvania, asking the judge to vacate the receivership of the bank in order that its debts might be paid and the institution reorganized. The hearing was before Judge "Bob" Hardeman. The receivers are Messrs. Kittles & Lovett, of Sylvania.

PLANS MADE TO TREAT THE FLOATING ELEMENT

Governor Harris, Collector of Internal Revenue A. O. Blalock and Mayor James G. Woodward yesterday held a conference upon the matter of treating the floating element of drug addicts in Atlanta, with the result that it was decided that the city will have charge of this work instead of the state, upon condition that this is agreeable to Dr. H. F. Harris, secretary of the state board of health, and the city physician, Dr. Claude Smith.

The governor will call the matter to the attention of Dr. Harris today and the mayor will take the matter up with Dr. Smith. This plan is in no way to interfere with or be connected with the plan of the state to treat drug addicts with the $10,000 appropriation made for this purpose.

Lockwood, formerly assistant manager of the street and road department of the Barber Asphalt Paving company, of Philadelphia, has come to Atlanta to open a branch office here which will serve as headquarters for his company throughout the southeast. The offices of the new branch have been opened at 1002-3 Healey building, with Mr. Lockwood in charge.

The asphalt sold by the Barber company is already widely used in the southeast and the increasing business of the company has made it necessary to open the southeastern headquarters here.

TWO BINDINGS OF HEART SONGS MAY BE SECURED

The "Heart Song," illustrated in today's issue of The Constitution, is the famous Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin. To untold thousands of people this wedding march recalls the most joyous moment of their lives.

In sequence of writing this great opera is the seventh of Wagner's productions for the stage. The poem was written at Dresden in 1845; the music begun in September, 1846; the instrumentation of the entire work was completed during the ensuing winter and spring; and the first performance took place August 28, 1850, at Weimar.

The opera has always been especially popular in the United States and England, not only on account of the wondrous beauty of the music—but because the legend itself has been embodied in English literature from early times.

The Lohengrin Bridal Chorus, or wedding march, is only one of several celebrated compositions of this kind that appear in the book—and it is this completeness and accuracy that make it universally interesting and absolutely a work that no home should do without.

Heart Songs is one of the great books of the century. It will charm, entertain and instruct every member of the family. It has five hundred large pages, including over four hundred selections, words and music, and is now being distributed by this paper to its friends and readers on presentation of six consecutively dated coupons clipped from the paper, and the bare cost of distribution. Books in two styles of binding are on display at this office, and the choice is optional, as set forth elsewhere in this issue.

The proceeds of the lecture will go to the charity fund used by the Presbyterian ladies of North avenue.

HEAD A SIGHT WITH PIMPLES

Became Solid Sore Eruption Over Head and Face. Very Restless. In Three Months

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"My little brother was about two months old when an itching and a breaking out of pimples which were very bad started. He would scratch and it was inflamed and afterward became a solid sore eruption all over his head and face. We had to sit up nights with him, and he was very restless. He had to wear a cap to keep his head from sticking to the pillow. His scalp was a soft crust of dandruff. His head was a very bad sight, and he was in such a fix that my mother did not know what was the matter.

"Nothing did any good, and he had this trouble about a month before using Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In about three months the eruption was completely gone and he was well." (Signed) Miss Helen E. Fleming, 1422 23d St., Columbus, Ga., July 15, 1915.

Nervous Periodical Headaches

This trouble commonly called "sick headache," is said to be due to the retention of ureas in the system. Often it is stated that a poor condition of the blood is a cause of these headaches, or one of them is a nervous condition; and in certain cases, no doubt this is true.

Where treatment is demanded, it is more for the pain than anything else, and Dr. A. F. Schelschmidt of Louisville, has found anti-kamnia tablets to give prompt and satisfactory relief. "Rest should be insisted upon," he says, "and the patient should go to bed, darken the room, and all the attendants and family should be as quiet as possible. An emetic will sometimes shorten the attack. The bowels should be kept open with "Actoids"; a hot bath and a thorough rub-down with a coarse towel, often give grateful relief. Two anti-kamnia tablets when the first signs appear, will usually prevent the attack. During an attack one tablet every hour or two will shorten the attack and relieve the usual nausea and vomiting." These tablets may be obtained at all druggists. Ask for A-K Tablets. They are also unexcelled for nervous headaches, neuralgia and all pains.

To Drill 300 Oil Wells

The Uncle Sam Oil Company is offering the greatest money maker in America for the moderate investor.

Advertising space comes high, and as the Company wishes to put all capital raised into actual drilling on proven grounds—it is not using much space in this paper—only to notify you to write at once for full particulars and same will be gladly sent without cost or obligation to you. When you receive full information, as we want you to have, you will not consider any other investment proposition in preference to a big block of stock in this established Company.

This is the "age of oil," and big financiers are taking advantage of the oil boom to sell to the public stocks of the Trust on a capitalization basis of Two Billion Dollars. Some of this stock on such a basis will now only pay two per cent and cannot advance much. Get in touch with us and get a line on the "high brow" schemers for the big Trust as well as the fake wildcatters and you will make your money count where a real advance of five to twenty times is possible, as our drills push development.

Millions are made in oil and millions will be made in oil, but you must join an established company building on a big, broad basis. We refine our oil, and it may soon bring $4.00 per barrel.

By acting quickly you can secure a part of this valuable stock on a capitalization basis of One Million Dollars, and we have several properties that, by just a little good luck, can produce more oil than all the stock when issued will come to at the price you need pay.

The Uncle Sam Oil Company has Three Refineries. Over one hundred twenty producing wells. One hundred sixty-five miles of pipe line connecting the larger percentage of our properties with two refineries in two states. The Company has about ten thousand acres of oil and gas leases and fifteen hundred acres of deeded lands in the real oil and gas belt, and at least 300 locations where good judgment demands that wells be drilled.

The Company is now drilling six deep wells that can easily secure production that should increase our combined properties several million dollars.

To make big profits you must invest with a concern developing on a big basis. Four of our deep wells are in the east extension of the rich Cushing oil fields. At the hour this notice was written one of these wells was developing a rich new producer in the Wheeler sand at 2489 feet. Three of these wells will be drilled 3300 feet unless big producers are developed at less depth. At this hour they are 1900 and 2610 and 2840 feet deep at these three locations.

Some big producers are practically sure within the next six to ten days—but subject to withdrawal without notice the Company will accept remittances at the present prices until February 16. Answer quickly and you will have time to secure your stock at present prices.

We have another well half drilled on a big lease in Pawnee County, and we are helping to drill another well near the center of four hundred acres of leases west of the Glenn pool in Creek County. You can secure this stock at about half the book value and when you join this Company you will be backed by seventeen thousand other stockholders and an already great property.

The Uncle Sam Oil Company is the real big growing independent of the Middle West, building for principle as well as financial gain. It is the pioneer that for ten years has maintained the first direct-to-the-people marketing stations in Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri. "High brow" financiers and "so-called" investment journals and the subsidized press all take a "paid knock" at "Uncle Sam Oil," but it has gone from persecution to prosperity, and if you wish to join a winner that is determined to drill 300 new wells during the next twenty-four months and finally cover the United States with its direct-to-the-people marketing stations—then write today for full particulars and get a big block of real oil stock before some great producers advance the price five to twenty times. It will only cost you a 2-cent stamp to secure free full information, and up to date reports on oil wells now drilling, but do not answer unless you mean business.

Respectfully submitted,

FORMER MAYOR OF BIRMINGHAM, ALA., INDORSES TANLAC

"You Will Hardly Know Me When We Meet Again, for I Am Getting Well," He Writes to Atlanta Friend.

One of the latest additions to the list of leaders of thought and action who have come forward with their unqualified indorsement of Tanlac is the name of Hon. Frank V. Evans, former Mayor of Birmingham, Ala., ex-State Examiner of Public Accounts of Alabama, and at one time editor of one of the South's greatest newspapers—The Birmingham Age-Herald.

Writing to a personal friend in Atlanta, Mr. Evans says:

"Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 2, 1916.

". . . By the way, you will hardly know me when we meet again, because I am getting well and strong again. As I told you while in Atlanta last month, I have been suffering a long time with gastritis, as the doctors call it—really a disordered stomach with consequent constipation, pains in the shoulders, headache, belching, heartburn, loss of appetite, loss of sleep and fainting spells. For weeks I could not sleep on my back.

"One week ago, upon recommendation of friends, who had tried the medicine, I purchased one bottle of Tanlac and began taking it. Since my second dose I have suffered none of these troubles to which I refer, and really believe I am going to get perfectly well and strong again. Won't that be wonderful at my age? Well, certain it is that Tanlac is a wonderful medicine, and you know that I am not given to 'puffing' mere experiments and am rather orthodox as to materia medica.

"I shall continue the treatment with perfect confidence in the final results.

(Signed) "FRANK V. EVANS."

Commenting on this splendid indorsement of Tanlac, G. F. Willis, Southern Distributor of Tanlac, said:

"Although the list of prominent indorsers of Tanlac is a long one, I recall a few leading names that lend both dignity and credit to the entire array. Some of them are:

"Hon. C. W. Mangum, of Atlanta, Sheriff of Fulton County; Hon. McKenzie Moss, Judge of the Eighth District of Kentucky; Hon. Moses R. Glenn, Superintendent of Printing for the State of Kentucky; Col. Jno. B. Gaines, editor and publisher, Bowling Green, Ky.; Mr. C. C. Cooper, president Georgia Cotton Oil Co.; Mr. H. W. Hill, Bank President of South Pittsburg, Tenn.; Mr. J. F. Carroll, Cotton Mill Superintendent of Chattahoochee, Ga.; Hon. S. S. Shepherd, ex-city councilman of Atlanta, and many others whose names have heretofore been given to the public."

Tanlac is sold in Atlanta exclusively by the Jacobs Pharmacy Co.—(adv.)

CITY HALL GOSSIP

TO THE KNOCKER.

The following poem is contributed by Dr. John C. White, known as the "Poet-Member" of council:

Times are getting better,
  Sure as you are born;
So, sell your little hammer
  And buy yourself a horn.
Farmers are all happy,
  Cribs are full of corn—
Not a bit of use
  In looking so forlorn.
Sheep are mighty woolly,
  Ready to be shorn;
Folks are feeling bully,
  So, what's the use to mourn?
Spring is shortly coming,
  All nature to adorn;
So sell your little hammer
  And buy yourself a horn.

MAYOR IS EXPECTED TO VETO REPEAL OF NON-RESIDENT LAW

While the mayor has made no statement to that effect, it is generally believed around the city hall that he will disapprove the ordinance which repeals the ordinance requiring employees to reside within the city limits.

Council passed the repealing ordinance Monday afternoon and it will be two or three days before the paper reaches the mayor.

As the mayor is opposed to persons employed by the city living in other towns, his veto is expected.

SAMPLE BLOCK OF PAVEMENT TO BE LAID ON PRYOR STREET

Councilman Claude L. Ashley announces that the sample block of resurface to be laid by the Finley process, free of cost to the city, will be placed on the block on South Pryor street opposite the commercial high school.

"We want to give the new process a fair trial," states the councilman, "and at the same time have a block paved where it will do the city the most good."

The Finley process is by Sam Finley and he wants to show the city how to resurface all paving with a machine that will save labor and cost.

CITY HALL JANITOR SERVICE WILL PROBABLY BE CHANGED

There will be a meeting of the council committee on public buildings and grounds Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the mayor's committee room.

The chairman of the committee, Councilman J. L. Carpenter, has called the meeting to take up the matter of making some changes in the city hall janitor service.

CITY FIRST BORROWED MONEY SIXTY-THREE YEARS AGO TODAY

Atlanta started borrowing money to run the city government exactly sixty-three years ago today.

On February 9, 1853, the city council decided to borrow $10,000. A part of this money was subsequently used to buy what was known as the "Peter's Reserve," which is the block on which stood the first city hall and where now stands the state capitol.

GAS MAIN IS TAPPED BY NEGRO PLUMBER WHO IS PARALYZED

Gas is known to most people to be a commodity that they have to pay for, but an old paralyzed negro plumber worked up a scheme by which he was getting all the gas he wanted free of cost, didn't pay for his and gets bound over.

J. R. Porter, the old negro plumber who is paralyzed, lives at 148 Butler street. It was noticed that he always had his house brilliantly lighted at night, and Detectives Vickery and Hamby made an investigation. They not only found the house like "The House of a Thousand Candles," but also discovered a gas stove almost red hot.

The detectives had gas men make a further investigation, and it was found that the old paralyzed plumber had tapped the gas main and connected up his house without going to the trouble of having a meter installed.

Porter pleaded guilty in the police court Tuesday afternoon and said that the winter became so cold and he was too old and paralyzed that he had to have light and heat and couldn't work to get them, so he tapped the gas main and lit up and fired up to his heart's content.

Porter was held in a bond of $500 for larceny.

DUBLIN MAN KILLS SELF.

H. H. Coley Shoots Fatal Load With Toe.

Dublin, Ga., February 8.—(Special.) The body of H. H. Coley, who killed himself last night at his home here by shooting his head open with a shotgun, was carried to Cochran for interment this morning.

Coley had been drinking heavily for several days and was in a room by himself when he took the shotgun, placed its muzzle against his face and pulled the trigger with his toe. The load split the upper portion of his head open, killing him instantly. He leaves a wife here and one brother and a sister in Cochran.

HIGH TRIBUTE IS PAID TO THOMAS S. EGLESTON

Funeral of Pioneer Insurance Man Largely Attended. Many Flowers.

The funeral of Thomas S. Egleston, leading financier and insurance man, who died at his residence Sunday, was held yesterday from All Saints' church, with interment in West View cemetery. The services were largely attended, and there were many floral offerings. The directors of the chamber of commerce attended in a body.

At the regular meeting of the directors of the Lowry National bank Tuesday resolutions were adopted expressing the appreciation of the officers of the bank for the high services rendered to the bank by Mr. Egleston, and the meeting was adjourned out of respect to his memory. Expressions of condolence for the relatives of Mr. Egleston were embodied in the resolutions.

A remarkable and well-deserved tribute was paid to the memory of Mr. Egleston at a special meeting of fire insurance men and others held in the committee room of the Southeastern Underwriters' association in the Trust Company of Georgia building Tuesday morning. The large room was crowded with friends of the deceased, each of whom felt a keen sense of personal loss in his untimely passing.

Captain Edward S. Gay presided at the meeting, and was one of those who spoke of the many lovable traits of the splendid character who had passed. Other speakers who voiced the sentiments of all those present and gave touching and notable instances of the worth of the man, his unfailing gentleness and courtesy, his wise judgment as a business man and his lofty character and wholesomeness of mind and heart, were W. E. Chapin, southern manager of the Fire Association and the Pennsylvania Fire Insurance companies; S. Y. Tupper, southern manager of the Queen Insurance company; Milton Dargan, southern manager of the Royal Insurance company; W. R. Prescott, partner of Mr. Egleston in the southern general agency of the Hartford, Citizens' and Sterling Fire Insurance companies; W. F. Pattillo, general agent of the Hamburg-Bremen Fire Insurance company; George Harrington, special agent of the Germania Fire Insurance company, and Major Thomas Peters, all of Atlanta, and Clarence F. Low, of New Orleans, manager of the Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance company.

As a remark of the respect and esteem in which Mr. Egleston was held by his associates, resolutions were passed unanimously by the fire insurance managers present to close their offices at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

A committee was appointed to draft suitable resolutions upon the death of Mr. Egleston, and copies will be presented to the relatives of the deceased; sent to the home office of the Hartford Fire Insurance company, and be made a part of the records of the Southeastern Underwriters' association.

Telegrams were received from many fire insurance company officials in the north and east, deploring the loss of a man whose wise counsel was always sought and gladly appropriated.

The following telegram was sent to the home office of the Hartford Fire Insurance company:

"R. M. Bissell, President Hartford Fire Insurance company, Hartford, Conn.: At a meeting today of the friends and associates of Thomas Egleston, who has so ably and honorably represented your great company in the south, I am charged with the duty of conveying to you a message of sympathy and condolence in the irreparable loss which we share with you.

"A great man has passed to his reward. An able underwriter leaves a vacancy difficult to fill. Our grief is yours, and with you we bow to the blow. (Signed) Edward S. Gay, chairman."

ANOTHER IS ADDED TO THE LONG CHAIN OF MEYERS HOTELS

Robert R. Meyer, well-known hotel man of the south, president of the Winecoff Hotel company, of this city, and president of the Florida Hotel company, has recently completed purchase of the Windsor hotel property, comprising an entire block in Jacksonville, Fla.

The property was purchased from Mrs. T. M. Wilson, and the hostelry for the past several years has been known as one of the most standard of its kind in Florida and among the foremost of Jacksonville.

Under the management of J. E. Kavanaugh, the Windsor will be open twelve months out of the year, according to an announcement made by Mr. Meyer.

Mr. Meyer for a long time was identified as one of the leading officials in the Hotel Seminole, being connected as president and general manager of the Seminole Hotel company for over five years.

Announcement of Mr. Meyer's recent purchase in Florida has been received by his many friends in Atlanta with interest, and they are wishing him the same success with the Windsor as he has experienced with the Winecoff in Atlanta.

VELVET WINS TRIBUTE AT THE WORLD'S FAIR

Never in its history has tobacco received such widespread public recognition for its services to man as has been showered upon it in this good year of 1915.

Emperors, kings, war lords, grave councilors have discussed ways and means of supplying tobacco to their armies with as much concern almost as is given to the question of supplying the ammunition.

Hardly a day goes by that one does not read some little "human interest" story of what tobacco means to the men in the trenches. And it is with gratification that now and again shipments of tobacco are made by sympathetic folk in this country to the men who are fighting for "vaterland," "la partie," or "king and country."

It is not to be wondered at, then, that this year a great exposition has, for the first time, honored tobacco with the highest award in its gift. Four tobacco products were given the grand prize at the Panama-Pacific International exposition at San Francisco. These four products were: Velvet smoking tobacco, made by the Liggett & Myers Tobacco company, a cigarette and a chewing tobacco, both belonging to this company, and an imported brand of cigars.

Velvet's claim to the grand prize was based on the following points:

"Velvet smoking tobacco is a naturally matured, selected tobacco, aged-in-the-wood for over two years. This natural curing, while slow and expensive, is recognized as far superior to any quick curing, 'forcing,' 'processing,' 'treating,' or 'artificial' methods of handling leaf tobacco. The method of ageing Velvet leaf does not admit of using anything but superior leaf. Velvet is nature's own tobacco, aged and cured in nature's own patient way and justly holds the title of the 'smoothest smoking tobacco.' Its sales have increased so rapidly since its inception that the output of this brand is today taxing the capacity of the largest smoking tobacco factory in the world."

PETER JACOBSEN HELD UP BY TWO WHITE MEN

After gaining his confidence by a walk of several blocks from a train on which the three were traveling, two well dressed young white men held up and robbed Peter M. Jacobsen, traveling agent for the Union Pacific railroad, of $125 in cash and a pay check for $75.50, near the capitol building early last night.

HE DREW THE LINE WHEN WIFE JOINED DARKTOWN CHURCH

They are always "drawing the line" down in Darktown and the lines are so many and so diversified that it keeps the recorder always guessing.

Yesterday afternoon a new line was drawn by one Frank Porter, who lives or has tried to live with his wife at 201 Clarke street. Porter let his wife, so he stated to the court, drink beer, have company, play the guitar, shoot craps, play high five and dance, but he drew the line when she joined the church.

He was tried Tuesday afternoon for trying to kill his wife, Leila, with a razor and he succeeded so far as to gash her across the throat.

"Frank wus mity good ter me," stated Leila, "an' 'lowed me ter do mos' ez I pleased till I j'ined de church, den he drewed de line."

"And drew a razor across your guzzle?" put in the recorder.

Porter is now in jail on the charge of assault with intent to murder.

Local Sewanee Alumni To Attend Conference At Chattanooga Soon

Bishop A. W. Knight, of the Episcopal church, was the guest of honor of the Atlanta Alumni Association of the University of the South, at Sewanee, Tenn., at a luncheon given at the Ansley hotel yesterday.

Bishop Knight outlined the plans to increase Sewanee's endowment to $1,500,000 and to pay off the present indebtedness of the institution, which amounts to $300,000. Bishop Knight has just completed a circuit of 28 southern cities where he has been in the interest of this plan, appearing before the local alumni associations. He is arousing interest in the Chattanooga, Tenn., conference to be held on February 22, when delegates from all the southern cities of importance will meet there to discuss a plan whereby Sewanee's indebtedness can be paid off and the institution placed under a substantial endowment.

A local committee, consisting of Frank M. Gillespie, chairman; Hanson W. Jones and Ralph Peters Black was named at Tuesday's luncheon to send delegates to the Chattanooga conference from Atlanta. At the luncheon two or three members of this committee signified their intention of representing Atlanta as well as two other alumni.

The local alumni of Sewanee attending the luncheon were: Frank M. Gillespie, Earle M. Greene, Ralph Peters Black, Frank Eastman, Hanson W. Jones, Rev. R. E. Gribben, Dr. C. B. Wilmer, W. R. Livermore, L. B. Richards, P. C. Dinkins and R. A. DeWar.

David Woodward also was present, although not a Sewanee alumnus. He manifested a great deal of interest in the proposed improvements for Sewanee.

David A. Shepard, secretary of the Sewanee Alumni association, is accompanying Bishop Knight.

Had a Life Preserver With Booze Floaters Instead of Corks

Booze has often been called in convivial circles "life preserver," and this may have suggested to Henry Parks, a citizen of Darktown, his unique plan of making himself a walking blind tiger.

Henry was arraigned in the police court yesterday afternoon and the arresting officer exhibited a vancas belt made exactly like a life preserver except the pockets contained points of whisky instead of the regulation corn fillers. When ready for operation he fastened the belt around his waist and distributed his goods.

As it was his first offense the recorder let him off with a fine of $15.75 and confiscated the life preserver.

KIBLA TEMPLE MEMBERS TO HONOR ROYAL VIZIER

Extensive Preparations Are Being Made for Banquet Saturday Night.

W. G. Moore, recently chosen royal vizier of Kibla temple, Dramatic Order Knights of Khorassan, will be signally honored next Saturday night at 8 o'clock by the membership of the temple when a banquet will be held in his honor at the Piedmont hotel.

Kibla temple is seeking to show in some way its appreciation of the valuable service Mr. Moore has rendered for the temple and for the order of Knights of Pythias in Atlanta and Georgia. He is a past chancellor of Uniform lodge, No. 123, the strongest Knights of Pythias lodge in the south, and was a charter member of Kibla temple when it was formed, nearly thirteen years ago. Since that time he has held nearly every chair in the organization.

The banquet Saturday night will mark the launching of a program of work for what the officers of the temple hope will be the greatest year in the life of the body. A number of big features for the temple to undertake will be announced and suggestions will be heard from local and visiting members.

The membership of the temple covers north Georgia and points in North Carolina, and every member is invited to be on hand. The committee on arrangements has planned for the knights to have their wives or ladies with them.

James W. Austin, prominent in Knights of Pythias circles, and past grand chancellor of Georgia, will preside as master of ceremonies, and addresses will be made during the evening by local and visiting knights. Special music has also been provided by the committee.

While it is planned to make provision for every member, the committee in charge asks that reservations be made now, so as to make sure of a seat at the banquet table. Reservations may be made through any one of the following committeemen: E. H. Kelly, Parke A. Dallis, J. T. Smith, Lee F. Terrell and Major B. L. Owens.

DAIRYMAN SHOWS NEW "STUNT" IN WATERING LINE

Owning a couple of cows as an adjunct to his store at 99 Davis street, W. F. Norton undertook, it was stated, to increase his dairy output by watering his butter. He was in the police court yesterday afternoon to tell the recorder about it.

The evidence was that Norton sold butter with about one-half butter and the other half pure water. So stated Inspector Hilley, and Norton owned up to the impeachment.

"Well, I have heard of some people watering stock," said Recorder Johnson, "and watering milk, but watering butter is a new dodge."

The smallest fine that can be imposed for violating the pure food ordinance is $20, and Norton got it.

Guide Book of Georgia Has Been Completed; Covers Entire State

A complete motorist guide book of the roads of the state of Georgia has been compiled by Armstrong and Gans for the Georgia Chamber of Commerce and is now on sale at the newsstands.

Complete routes and maps of more than 11,250 miles of road, taking in practically every county in the state with about 500 cities and towns, are included in the guide. The book has been named the Motorway Year Book. Roads not up to the standard set by the chamber are not listed, but enough highways are included to take a motorist to almost every point within the borders of Georgia.

DANDRUFF GOES! HAIR GETS THICK, WAVY, BEAUTIFUL

Save your hair! Double its beauty in a few moments. Try this!

Hair stops coming out and every particle of dandruff disappears.

Try as you will, after an application of Danderine, you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

BAD COLD? TAKE "CASCARETS" FOR BOWELS TONIGHT

They're fine! Liven your liver and bowels and clear your head.

Get a 10-cent box.

Colds—whether in the head or any part of the body—are quickly overcome by urging the liver to action and keeping the bowels free of poison. Take Cascarets tonight and you will wake up with a clear head and your cold will be gone. Cascarets work while you sleep; they cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the bowels.

Remember the quickest way to get rid of colds is one or two Cascarets at night to cleanse the system. Get a 10-cent box at any drug store. Don't forget the children. They relish this Candy Cathartic and it is often all that is needed to drive a cold from their little systems.

CONVENTION IS CALLED BY NEGRO ODD FELLOWS

Another Development in Interesting Fight in Wealthy Colored Organization.

Although certain officials of the Negro Odd Fellows of Georgia who recently were suspended have applied to the courts of Fulton county and will resist the efforts of the subcommittee of management, with headquarters at Philadelphia, to depose them, a meeting has been called of the negroes of the state belonging to the organization for Savannah for the election of a board of directors.

The call for the meeting is the outgrowth of troubles which have been brewing in the ranks of the negro Odd Fellows for some time past, and which have attracted wide attention by reason of the fact that the organization owns considerable property in this state.

The call, explaining the purposes of the gathering, says:

"Since the subcommittee of management has revoked the charter of the D. G. L. No. 18 in Georgia it has left our bureau of endowment without proper officers to care for the property. Every lodge in the state owns the property. To keep it from being destroyed by lawsuits every lodge in Georgia is hereby requested to elect one delegate to meet in the city of Savannah, Ga., February 22, 10 a. m., for the purpose of electing a board of directors to take charge and administer the property and assets belonging to District Grand Lodge No. 18 until such time as the subcommittee of management sees fit to rescind or modify its order of revocation. This board is to be elected for the purpose of going into the courts March 4 to show the honorable court that the order is prepared and in position to take care of your property. The honorable superior court of Fulton county took charge and appointed receivers for our property on the ground that we had no one who was authorized to act for us. Therefore, this meeting is called for the purpose of electing proper persons to take charge and administer the affairs of our endowment bureau.

TODAY IN PUGILISM

1859—John Joseph Killion, better known as Jake Kilrain, born at Greenpoint, L. I. Jake was only a few months younger than John L. Sullivan, and was the same height, 5 feet 10½ inches. Like Sullivan, he began boxing in Boston, but later he made Baltimore his home, and has since resided in the Maryland metropolis. In 1887 he challenged John L. to do battle for the American title, and, Sullivan failing to consent to the match, Kilrain was declared the champion and awarded a belt. He then went to France and fought Jem Smith, the English champion, for the world's title. The bout went 106 rounds to a draw, but Jake was considered the better man. In 1889 Sullivan consented to meet his rival, and at Richburg, Miss., after fighting two hours and sixteen minutes with bare knuckles, Sullivan was the victor. Kilrain took part in several bouts after that, but was twice defeated by Frank Slavin, the Australian. Jake was a professional sculler before he became a boxer.

1903—Young Peter Jackson and Larry Temple fought 10-round draw at Boston.

Cotton Seed Oil.

New York, February 8.—Cotton seed oil was higher, particularly the March delivery, which was in demand from refiners and shorts. This strength was partially reflected in the balance of the list, aided by the higher ruling in lard and cotton and light crude offerings. March closed 18 points higher and later months 5 to 7 higher. Sales, 14,900 barrels.

New York, February 8.—The cotton market was higher today with May contracts selling up to 12.28, or 26 points above yesterday's final figures, and closing at 12.26. The general list closed very steady at a net advance of from 22 to 24 points.

The market opened at an advance of 6 to 9 points in response to firmness in Liverpool. The strength abroad was attributed by some local traders to reports of advances in war risks, and there was some local selling around the initial figures. This caused some irregularity, as it was felt that the higher insurance rates was an unfavorable feature from an export standpoint, but Liverpool showed continued strength which was taken by local bulls as indicating a desire to attract cotton, and houses with Liverpool connections were heavy buyers here. Offerings, consequently, were well absorbed, leaving the market comparatively bare on contracts and prices worked up sharply in the later trading on reports of an easier situation in ocean freight rates out of New York, favorable political advices and reports of steady southern spot markets.

The demand from Liverpool tapered off after the close abroad, but houses with Liverpool connections were buyers again late in the afternoon, while there was also some fresh demand from western and Wall street sources. The bulk of the demand, however, was attributed by traders around the ring to covering of shorts, and the limited volume of offerings rendered the market sensitive to the buying movement.

Reports from Arkansas that the floods were the worst in the history of the state may have contributed to the late advance, which carried March contracts up to 12.09, July to 12.40 and October to 12.45, or about 24 to 26 points net higher. The market closed within a point or two of the best.

The opening advance here was by no means a full response to the cables and the Liverpool buying was attributed to covering by straddle shorts at the wider differences. It was reported that ocean freight room for a small lot of cotton had been booked at a rate of $2.50 from New York to Liverpool and that considerable room was offered for March sailing out of New York at the same rate.

Spot cotton steady; middling uplands 12.10; no sales.

New Orleans Rises 20 to 26 Points.

New Orleans, February 8.—A sudden show of strength, which almost reached the spectacular in the afternoon, was made by this cotton market today. The price was raised a quarter of a cent a pound on sustained buying, much of which came from nervous shorts. Late in the day the rumor that British officials would visit this country to try to settle the blockade controversy caused activity and put the market to a level 20 to 26 points over yesterday's close.

The market had a firm tone throughout, due in large measure to the more favorable turn taken by the Lusitania matter. Liverpool was much better than due when the American markets opened, and initial prices were at the advance. In the early trading prices rose about 10 points. With almost no setbacks the gain gradually was widened. The close was 22 to 25 points up.

While brokers handled a large volume of fresh buying and the outside public took more interets in the market than for many days past, the demand was most insistent from recent sellers, who bid prices up on themselves in their efforts to cover their short commitments before their profits vanished.

Sugar.

New York, February 8.—There was no change in the local market for raw sugar and operations were confined to Porto Rico grades, of which 15,000 bags were sold to a local refiner for prompt shipment at equal to 4.70 for centrifugal. There were no sales of Cubas, but offerings were not quite so liberal as on previous days, nor were the ideas of holders unchanged, 3⅞ cents still being asked for prompt or nearby shipment sugars, notwithstanding the fact that cables from London said that Great Britain was going to check importations of sugar in order to help the exchange situation. The lack of available freight room probably accounted for the firmness of holders as supplies in Cuba are rapidly increasing, stocks there, according to latest advices, amounting to 254,555 tons, against 163,981 last year. Prices for Cubas were quoted at 3 13-16 to 3 27-32 cents for cost and freight; 4.83 to 4.86 for centrifugal and 4.06 to 4.09 for molasses.

In refined sugar prices remained unchanged at 6 cents for fine granulated. There was only a quiet trade with the labor dispute still in progress.

In futures prices were a little steadier at the start on covering, but soon eased off under scattered liquidation, prompted by the report from London that Great Britain would restrict the importation of sugar, closing prices showing declines of 4 to 7 points from last night.

Sales, 3,700 tons.

PROFESSIONAL VIEWS ON COTTON SITUATION

New York, February 8.—(Special.)—The local market today met with a good volume of buying for account of Liverpool interests and as a consequence prices advanced about 25 points. According to local representatives of English underwriters insurance rates on shipments from this country, have advanced about 175 per cent in the last twenty-four hours, which naturally will have the effect of advancing the cost of cotton in Liverpool. With that market increasing its premium over New York, the covering hedges for foreign account is to be expected in this market, at the same time, except for that class of buying demand continues small, however, sentiment has been bearish for so long a time as to suggest that general buying would increase should the news turn at all favorable to cotton.

JAY, BOND & CO.

New York, February 8.—(Special.)—The cotton market was very strong today, principally on local short covering due to more optimistic advices from the foreign situation. Liverpool is due about 6 points up, and as advices received since the close of the market from Washington warrant the belief of an early settlement of the Lusitania affair, there is strong probability that the upward tendency will continue tomorrow. It is a matter of interest that freight brokers report considerable room offering for March shipment at 2.50 a hundred, which, with other indications, point to increased exports in the near future.

JOHNSTON STORM & CO.

New York, February 8.—(Special.)—Differences between this market and Liverpool were conducive to profit taking by straddle interests, and heavy buying by this element absorbed the floating supply of contracts during the early session, leaving contract values highly sensitive to further commitments, which later proved to be on the buying side. The strength abroad reflected the continued difficulties in the export situation, and it was rumored that war risks had advanced sharply from southern ports to Great Britain. However lower freight rates and increased tonnage are being talked of, and this is not without its effect on sentiment, which is not as aggressive as of late. Every once in a while the still strong spot situation exerts its influence and advices come to hand of good demand at full quotations with little offering. Anticipation of weakening of holders has been one of the bear instruments and shorts have in consequence been the most active in the recent trading, but they seem to lack confidence.

SHERSON, HAMMEL & CO.

New York, February 8.—(Special.)—Liverpool was a heavy buyer in our market today, and by subtracting about 50,000 bales from the supply of floating contracts caused our market to close at about the best of the day. For just what reason Liverpool made today's purchases is not yet apparent. Perhaps she has an inkling of more freight room for cotton, or perhaps she wishes to buy here and sell in her own market upon the theory that the differences are too large. Whatever the reason may be the result is the same, and until the outpouring of spot cotton again creates a supply of contracts, no sharp decline is probable. We think, however, fundamental conditions have not changed in any way, and while spots are not easy to buy on declines in the south, we think today's advance puts them closer to a sale and it is this spot cotton which will in time, we think, bring a lower range of values than any we have recently seen.

Acreage is a most important question in shaping the market, and this ability to rally will add to and not subtract from the acreage. We do not think there is any short interest in the market, and unless Liverpool resumes her buying here tomorrow we do not think the advance will hold.

RENSKORF, LYON & CO.

New York, February 8.—(Special.)—Liverpool was sharply higher this morning, reflecting an advance in marine insurance rates, resulting from the Appam incident. It was also reported today that business had been done in freight room in New York for Liverpool at $2.50 a hundred. The sharp advance in the foreign market made the differences between the two markets attractive, and this led to a considerable buying from Liverpool in our market, undoing arbitrage transactions.

Later there appeared to be buying of hedges by merchants from this market against sales made to the trade.

Domestic mills are well engaged, and these sales from time to time bringing a covering demand into the contract market. The principal selling appeared to come from the south, but was not in sufficient volume to check the advance, which continued for some 20 points.

It is probable that the purely speculative short interest has been reduced as a result of today's operations. Local sentiment is a good deal mixed tonight and naturally less bearish than heretofore.

SECURITY MARKET LACKED SUPPORT

Rumor of Changes in British Government and Lusitania Bug-a-Boo Given as Excuses for Depression on Stock Exchange.

New York, February 8.—Much of the optimism which affected a general elevation of prices yesterday was lacking today, the speculative community again falling back upon the Lusitania affair and its possible results as an excuse for depressing the list. There was also some discussion regarding overnight advices from London, which pointed to another shuffling of the political cards in the British empire.

Trading was lighter and more contracted than at any recent session and utterly without public interest or support. The meager overturn was limited more than ordinarily to the professional element, which was plainly inclined toward the selling side.

Comparative strength and activity was manifested by several of the independent steel issues, notably Colorado Fuel, Great Northern Ore, Republic Iron and Sloss-Sheffield Steel, giving rise to fresh rumors of deals or combinations in which Midvale Steel figured. United States Steel was under intermittent pressure, regardless of favorable forecast dealing with the corporation's January earnings and unfilled tonnage.

Initial dealings indicated general firmness, which soon gave way to pronounced irregularity in the more active issues comprising the munitions and oils groups and such rails as Canadian Pacific and Baltimore and Ohio. Losses were largely retrieved before midday, but for the balance of the session the market drifted idly, with an almost imperceptible downward trend.

General news of the day was almost wholly constructive, embracing a quotation of 27 cents for June copper, with higher prices for more immediate delivery, and withdrawal from the market until the last quarter of the year by one of the large steel-producing companies because of its inability to accept new business until that time. Another upward revision of prices for most steel and iron products is expected before the expiration of the current quarter.

London's moderate sales here were not reflected in exchange, sterling rates ruling firm, likewise francs, while remittances to Germany and Austria strengthened visibly.

Bonds were irregular to heavy, with further extensive trading in Anglo-French 5s. Total sales, par value, aggregated $3,785,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Huge Foreign Demand Boosts All Grains—Provisions Also Continue Rise Because of Foreign Inquiry

Chicago, February 8.—Export demand of large volume gave the wheat market today an upward swing. As a result prices at the close, although unsettled, were 1⅞@2 to 2⅜@2½c net higher, with May at $1.30¼@⅜ and July at $1.22⅞. Other staples, too, showed gains—corn 1¼ to 1¼@⅜c, oats 1⅛@¼c and provisions 7½ to 27½c.

Estimates of wheat bought in the United States today for shipment to Europe amounted to 1,500,000 bushels, not including 1,500,000 bushels recently taken at Portland, Ore., and not heretofore announced. It was evident almost from the start that European buying nearly certain to reach a liberal total, would be in order. The first sign was that Liverpool quotations came virtually unchanged notwithstanding yesterday's sharp break in values here. There were also dispatches later saying that scarcity of supplies in Great Britain continued, despite the fact that London was paying the highest prices yet on the 1915 crop. Besides the world's available stock showed a notable falling off as against a substantial increase at the corresponding time last year, and there were advices that Greece was attempting to purchase 1,500,000 bushels.

Except for a brief reaction soon after the opening and for another downturn just before the close, the bulls kept the wheat market on the upgrade throughout the session. Lightness of receipts northwest, where an increase had been predicted, counted somewhat against the bears, and so likewise did numerous telegrams referring to widespread covering of ice and sleet over portions of Iowa, Nebraska and Missouri—a condition likely to lead to serious crop damage. By far the greater portion of the strength of prices, however, was due to the revival of European demand.

Corn ascended with wheat and as a result of assertions that foreign countries were after corn, especially Sweden, Denmark and Holland. Favorable weather eased the market at the outset, but the influence was only transient.

Oats took the same course as other grain. Export sales of 400,000 bushels helped the advance.

Active demand for lard put firmness into the provisions market, and much more than overcame an early setback for pork. Foreigners were said to have done at least some of the buying of lard.

CRACKERS ACCEPT VALDOSTA'S OFFER

Harry Matthews Already on Spot Putting Pine Park Grounds in Order for the Atlanta Team.

Valdosta, Ga., February 8.—(Special.) Manager Frank, of the Atlanta Crackers, has accepted the offer made by Valdosta, and the Atlanta team will train here this spring.

Harry Matthews, Manager Frank's right-hand man, reached the city this morning and will have supervision of the work to be done at the Pine park ball ground before the Crackers arrive.

The grounds will be put in first-class condition under Matthews' direction. The dressing rooms, shower baths and all of the equipment will be overhauled and no effort will be spared to make the camp one of the best in the country.

It is expected that the Creckers will arrive about March 1 and will be here for a month or longer.

MORE POWER GRANTED NATIONAL LEAGUE HEAD

New York, February 8.—The most important action at the opening session of the National league's reconvened annual meeting here today was to increase the power of President John K. Tener by a constitutional amendment which provides that in the case of protested games there shall be no appeal from the executive's decision. In the past there has been much haggling over the findings of the president on disputed games and the board of directors on appeal have not always supported the executive.

To Limit 25-Cent Seats.

Another radical measure, proposed by President Ebbets, of Brooklyn, would prohibit any club from having more than 2,000 25-cent bleacher seats. The Boston club has 10,000 such seats, the St. Louis club 9,000, the Philadelphia club 6,500 and the Cincinnati club 4,000. The question will come up tomorrow.

At the meeting of the board of directors, which preceded the league meeting, Percy Haughton, of Boston, automatically took the seat held by President Gaffney, of Boston.

The following members were present at the league meeting: Boston, Mr. Haughton and W. F. Hapgood; Brooklyn, Mr. Ebbets; Chicago, Charles Weeghman; Cincinnati, August Herrmann and Thomas Cogan; New York, Harry Hempstead, Ashley Lloyd and John B. Foster; Pittsburg, Barney Dreyfuss; St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Schuyler B. Britton.

The schedule drawn up by Mr. Dreyfuss was adopted. It includes only three conflicting dates, all Sunday games in Chicago, which is the fewest conflicts ever scheduled.

Umpires Named.

The following umpires were appointed for next season:

Robert Emslie, Henry O'Day, William Klem, Charles Rigler, Mal Eason, William Byron, Ernest Quigley and Peter A. Harrison. The last named came from the International league. Al Orth will be retained as utility umpire. Injuries incapacitated him last season.

The league voted to continue a monthly pension to Mrs. Mary Pulliam Johnson, sister of the former president of the league.

It was voted to change the official diagram of a baseball diamond in the official rules to correct errors in regard to the pitching distance, batter's box and the proper location of second base.

All National league diamonds will be resurveyed before the 1916 season starts and certified reports of the surveys will be sent to President Tener.

Mr. Dreyfuss proposed an amendment to the playing rules, requiring that the shortest distance from the home plate to the outfield fence on fair ground shall be 270 feet, instead of 235. The amendment was submitted to the national commission as it deals with a subject both major leagues must vote upon.

Negotiations for Players.

During the day the Cincinnati club was negotiating with Patrick Powers, representing Harry Sinclair, of the Federal league, for the services of Pitchers Albert Shulz and Gene Packard. Schulz jumped a New York American contract to go with the Buffalo Federals and Packard jumped the Cincinnati club's reserve clause to go with Kansas City.

John Murray, the former New York and Chicago Ntional outfielder, had several conferences with Manager Stallings, of Boston. Business Manager Hapgood, of the Braves, said his club is negotiating with E. W. Gwinner, president of the Pittsburg Federals, for First Baseman Ed Konetchy, who has a contract calling for $8,000 for the next two years.

The Pittsburg club has bought Al Schact, a pitcher, from President Barrow, of the International league. Schact was with the Harrisburg club last season.

The New York club has asked waivers on Jack Meyers, the veteran Indian catcher of the Giants, and President Ebbets has refused to waive. Meyers' transfer to Brooklyn is expected.

LOOKING THEM OVER

WITH BILLY EVANS

DISCUSSING PLAYS THAT CONFLICT AND CONFUSE

Should a succeeding base runner who lives up to all the rules of the game be made to suffer because of a violation of the rules by the base runner ahead, said violation being failure to touch a certain base? This situation presents itself scores of times during the baseball season. It is the subject of all kinds of disputes and arguments. It is a question on which certain rules conflict, it is a question on which expert authorities fail to agree, it is a question that is constantly put up to the sporting editors for an answer.

There is an editor of a prominent sporting publication who always answers such queries by stating positively that a succeeding base runner should be called out if he touch a base that has previously been missed by the runner ahead. He bases his reason on section 16 of rule 56, which relates to passing a preceding base runner before such runner has legally been put out. He also points to rule 52 covering the scoring of runs. In a recent issue of the paper, edited by a man conceded to be one of the best authorities on rules, I discovered the following query which illustrates the position he takes on the question.

Runners on first and second, no one out, when batter hits for a home run; runner on second fails to touch third on his way to the plate; the runner on first and the batter touch each base as required by the rules governing the proper scoring of a run. The ball is returned to the infield and secured by the third baseman, who has noticed the failure of the runner on second to touch third on his way home. The umpire also noticed the mistake. The third baseman touches the bag with the ball in his possession. That, of course, retires the runner who failed to touch the base. The umpire then declares out both succeeding base runners, claiming that they have technically passed the preceding runner before he was out.

Now for the answer of the baseball expert. Here it is: "We have talked the play over with a number of major league umpires, and all of them insist that the succeeding runners should not be called out because of a rule violation by the preceding runner. We have always taken the same view as that given by your umpire, that the succeeding runners technically passed the preceding runner on the base lines before said runner was out, and hence both were automatically out for so doing. A great many people have tried to argue us out of that view, but we go by the plain wording of the rule and let it go at that. The rule should be changed to definitely cover the point raised."

That is the opinion held by an expert, whose opinion on all subjects pertaining to baseball I regard most highly. He admits that such may not be the intent of the rule, but that if one follows the rules which are supposed to govern the playing of the game, he must take such a version. I have had such a play to come up a great number of times, and I have always taken a directly contrary opinion to the one expressed above. There are a great many cases where the umpire must use common sense and fair play in deciphering a situation. I regard the play stated above as one of those situations. In fact, all major league umpires are a unit on this play. They penalize only the player who has erred, when the ball is held by the fielder on the bag which has been missed.

Technically it can be argued that the succeeding runners are out for passing the preceding base runner, since the preceding runner never did touch a base which they later touched. Thus they acquired possession of the bag before the runner who preceded them on the lines. That interpretation is drawing the lines pretty fine, yet it is a possible conclusion. Major league umpires base their ruling on rule 59, which relates to the scoring of runs. That rule says: One run shall be scored every time a base runner, after having legally touched the first three bases, shall legally touch the home plate before three men are out, provided, however, he does not reach home on a play in which the third man be forced out, or put out before reaching first base. In the case cited, the man originally on first and the batter who hit the home run, each having touched all three bases and the home plate, are regarded as having properly scored. All that would be necessary to do away with this play, which is a constant producer of arguments, would be to substitute a phrase in rule 59 worded something like this: "Failure of a preceding base runner to legally touch a base shall have no effect on a succeeding base runner or runners who touch each base." That would end all argument, would definitely settle the point in dispute, and would lessen the labors of the various sporting editors who annually answer said question time after time.

WILLARD AND MORAN TO FIGHT FOR $70,000

New York, February 8.—Jess Willard, world's heavyweight champion, and Frank Moran will meet in a ten-round bout at Madison Square Garden here on March 8 for a purse of $70,000, it was announced tonight by Tex Rickard, promoter of the match.

The date originally agreed upon was March 17, but it was changed because Madison Square Garden, the only available place for holding the match here, had been previously engaged for that date. Rickard said tonight that the board of directors of the Garden had agreed to accept $7,500 for its use, with no percentages.

While a tentative agreement already had been signed for the bout between Tom Jones, manager for Willard, and Ike Dorgan, representing Moran, Rickard announced that Jones and Dorgan would meet again tomorrow to sign the final articles.

The purse, the second largest ever offered for a match, stands unchanged at $60,000, with a $10,000 bonus. Willard's share will be $47,500 and Moran's $22,500.

Seats will be constructed, according to Rickard, to accommodate 13,000 persons. Prices will range from $50 for ringside boxes to $3 for rear seats. This will mean that the promoters will receive an average of probably $9 a seat, provided the Garden is filled to capacity.

Sporting experts tonight estimated that the total receipts would have to be around $120,000 to return a profit. In addition to the purse, bonus and rental of the garden, a tax of 7½ per cent of the gross receipts must be paid to the state under the law.

It is said portions of the main floor of the garden will be built up on an incline to permit the larger seating capacity. Ordinarily the garden will seat about 10,000 persons.

Whether there will be any preliminaries has not been decided. Rickard said the referee and stakeholder probably would be named tomorrow.

The offer of so large a purse for a ten-round bout has caused much speculation among the sporting fraternity here. The only other figure topping this was $101,000, with a $20,000 bonus, also made by Rickard, for the Johnson-Jeffries fight at Reno, Nev.

MARIST AND G. M. A. FIVES PLAY TODAY

The Marist, and G. M. A. basketball teams of the city prep school league will play their regular league game which was scheduled for Friday, this afternoon. If the weather is good, the game will be played at Marist. If not, at the Atlanta Athletic club.

FRAMING A SCHEDULE FOR SOUTHERN LEAGUE

Long Jump of Teams to Little Rock the Only Troublesome Question.

Birmingham, Ala., February 8.—No announcements were made by the schedule committee which met today to draw up a tentative schedule for the 1916 Southern Association baseball season before their adjournment late this afternoon. President Baugh presided at the meeting. It is understood that the only question that gave the committee any trouble was the long jump of the teams to Little Rock.

The schedule will be announced at the spring meeting in Atlanta during the latter part of this month.

MACON WILL GIVE UP SALLY FRANCHISE

Macon, Ga., February 8.—From the present outlook Macon will give up her franchise in the South Atlantic league Wednesday night, at which time the local club must make its final decision. There is very little interest here over the situation.

President E. G. Jacobs, of the club, stated this morning that at present there was very little hope that Macon would remain in the league, that no interest was being taken in the matter by any one.

Savannah Doubtful.

Savannah, Ga., February 8.—With President Corish, of the South Atlantic league, and President Armstrong, of the Savannah club, both in New York, the question of whether Savannah will remain in the league is uncertain today. A telegram from Mr. Armstrong states he will take the matter up upon his return the latter part of the week, which is indicated here to mean this city will retain its franchise.

HE USED THE MAILS FOR FRAUD PURPOSES

New York, February 8.—Arthur L. David, alias Don Collins, alias Tourbillon, pleaded guilty today in the United States district court to using the mails to defraud. David persuaded a number of people to invest in mythical peat lands in the south by representing to them that the Guaranty Trust company and the Indian Refining company were forming a syndicate to purchase the property. A clerk in the refining company acted as his accomplice. He was remanded to the Tombs until Thursday for sentence.

David is also accused of conspiring with William Butler to extort money from wealthy violators of the Mann white slave act.

WORSHAM IS ATTENDING CONSERVATION MEETING

The committee has made plans for a big meeting to be held here in April, to which the governors of all the states and other prominent officials will be invited.

The purpose of this meeting is to discuss and take action upon the question of national strength and national efficiency.

DEMOCRATS TO REPEAL FREE SUGAR CLAUSE

Washington, February 8.—Democratic members of the ways and means committee will caucus Thursday to frame a bill designed to repeal the free sugar clause of the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill. Majority Leader Kitchin made this announcement today, and said that no other revenue raising propositions will be considered at that time.

Cincinnati Sells Trombly.

New York, February 8.—George Trombly, left fielder of the Cincinnati National league team, was sold today to the Baltimore International team. Jack Dunn and Garry Herrmann closed the deal during the meeting of the National league magnates here. The price was not announced.

CHATTANOOGA HAD ONE SLIPPED OVER

Andrews Believed He Was Getting Best of Bisland Deal—Now Finds His Fingers Burnt.

By Dick Jemison.

O. B. Andrews, president of the Chattanooga club, is a peeved young man. Oliver Bucknell had one slipped over on him and he doesn't relish any such procedure.

He paid out four hundred large simoleons for a ball player whom it develops he cannot sign, when he thought he was grabbing off a jewel, a player who would again find himself and prove a star for the Lookouts.

Now he is yelling "I want my money back." He'll get it, but the joke will have been fastened on Mr. Oliver Bucknell, and he will be the butt of said joke for the remainder of the season.

The truth of the matter is, Andrews knew that Bisland cost the Crackers $1,500, and by buying him for $400 he was slipping over a $1,100 deficit on the Crackers.

Magnanimous Oliver.

In the news stories announcing his "discovery" from Chattanooga is the statement: "President Andrews states that he does not intend to force the case and cause the assessment of a fine against Atlanta according to the constitution of the league."

The truth of the matter is, Charley Frank admitted that Bisland got a side contract from Atlanta last season. He admitted it to the writer, and it was one of his principal reasons for letting Bisland go, and he stated when Chattanooga grabbed him that there would be a holler that would shake Lookout mountain when Oliver Bucknell learned that he had been made the goat.

Bisland was signed during the "war times," when side contracts were condoned to keep promising players from jumping to the Federals. The league officials knew not only of Bisland's side document, but others as well, possibly some on the Chattanooga club, too.

Will Release Bisland.

Manager Frank expected affairs to take this turn. When Bisland is turned back to the Crackers he will be given his unconditional release, as the local manager cannot handle his contract with the side agreement attached.

Which reminds us of another little yarn about Andrews. He's been a member of the schedule committee for the past several seasons, and in all that time he states he has not been able to secure a single good date for Chattanooga.

Which brings to light the time when Mr. Andrews, before the schedule committee which met in Chattanooga had adopted their playing dates, hustled to the Chattanooga papers and gave them the list of choice dates Chattanooga would get on the new schedule only to find when the schedule was adopted that not a single one of the dates that he had listed had been awarded Chattanooga.

Birmingham, Ala., February 8.—(Special.)—Charley Frank is not concerned over the Bisland affair. Frank pointed out this afternoon that his skirts were clear, as he had no connection with the Atlanta club when the alleged agreement was made with Bisland by the Atlanta club. He bought the Atlanta club, Frank said, with the express understanding that he was not involved in former entanglements. Frank would not comment on Bisland's claim that he can prove his salary was $350.

"The records in the Atlanta office show that Bisland received only $250 per month for his services," said Frank, "what he can or cannot prove I am not in a position to say as I was not connected with the club during the time the alleged agreement was in force."

Frank seemed to take the entire affair as a joke on Andrews, and laughed heartily at the anguish of the Chattanooga magnate. "Andrews ought to take his medicine like a little man," said Foxy Cholly, "instead of howling about it. He ought to know that he can't pull anything like this. He can't do anything about it, if it were true, and he might as well let it drop, which would be the sportsmanslike thing to do. He can either force Bisland to play at the figures his contract calls for or have him suspended. Let him be a sport."

GEORGIA ALL-STARS MAY PLAY CRACKERS ON MARCH 10 AND 11

Will McAndrews, of Macon, who is promoting a series of games between a team composed of Georgia boys, such as Cobb, Rucker, Lafitte, Lavender, Bankston, Fillingim, the Smiths, Sherrod and Red, Wingo and others, is planning some games between them and the Crackers.

He sets tentative dates, March 10 and 11, for these games, to be played in Atlanta. But as the Crackers will be training in Valdosta at that time it is probable that the game will be played there.

The games would prove a big drawing card in that section, or, in fact, in any section they are played.

CARLETON Y. SMITH LEAVES TO PLAY IN INDOOR MEET

Carleton Y. Smith, of Atlanta, southern tennis champion, will leave today for New York to participate in the National Indoor tennis championships which will be held there starting February 12.

While in New York Mr. Smith will attend the meeting of the National Tennis association which will be held there February 12.

ATLANTA BOWLERS LOSE THREE-CORNERED MATCH

In the three-cornered match game of ten pins between Atlanta, Chattanooga and Knoxville rolled in Chattanooga last Saturday night, the Chattanooga bowlers were returned the victors, Atlanta being returned a poor third.

Knoxville started in the lead with an 897 game, against 835 for Atlanta and 783 for Chattanooga. Chattanooga took the lead at the end of the second game with an 898 game, against 775 for Atlanta and 738 for Knoxville. They increased their lead when they rolled 923 in the final game, against 846 for Knoxville and 807 for Atlanta.

The Atlanta team, composed of Southard, Wright, R. Elliott, DeNise and Jester, rolled considerably below their natural stride, especially the first and last named.

CUT OUT MEATS IF KIDNEYS ARE TROUBLING YOU

Uric Acid in meat excites Kidneys and Irritates the Bladder.

Noted Authority says we must flush Kidneys with Salts if Back hurts.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.

PROMINENT DENTISTS TO CONDUCT CLINICS

Plans Are Now Being Made for Sessions Which Will Be Held March 10-11.

The fourth annual midwinter clinic, which is held under the auspices of the Atlanta Society of Dental Surgeons, will convene in regular session on Friday and Saturday, March 10 and 11, at the Hotel Ansley. These clinics have proven great factors in the development of dentistry in Georgia and the neighboring states.

It is the plan of the society to select four of the most prominent men in the profession to make the addresses at these meetings and conduct the clinics. These speakers have always been called on to address the convention on those subjects in which they specialize. In this way the clinics are of great educational value to those in attendance, and do a great deal of good.

The midwinter clinic this year will be in charge of the following committee, of which Dr. T. P. Hinman is chairman. Drs. T. P. Hinman, J. D. Osborne, J. D. Eby, S. W. Foster, C. N. Hughes, C. G. Howard, C. M. Barnwell, M. D. Huff, D. L. Hill and S. L. Silverman.

The speakers who will be present are four of the best known men in the profession. Dr. W. A. Price, of Cleveland, Ohio, will lecture on "The Effect of Diet on the Formation of the Dental Arch," and will show by motion pictures the changes produced by bad diet. Dr. T. B. Hartsell, of Minneapolis, will give an illustrated lecture on "Truth About Emitine." He will also lecture on "Uses of Vaccine in Mouth Infection." Dr. R. H. Riethmuller, of Philadelphia, a member of the staff of Dental Cosmos, one of the leading dental journals, will give an illustrated lecture on the "Last Word in Conductive Anesthesia." Dr. W. H. Harper, of Chicago, the fourth on the program for the meeting, will conduct a clinic on "Correct Amalgam Technique."

BULGAR KING GOES TO VISIT THE KAISER

London, February 8.—A Sofia dispatch to Reuter's states that King Ferdinand, Premier Radoslavoff and General Jecoff, commander-in-chief of the Bulgarian forces, left Monday night for German headquarters to visit Emperor William and afterward Archduke Frederick, commander-in-chief of the Austrian armies. General Jecoff will then return to Bulgaria. King Ferdinand plans to extend his trip to Coburg. During his absence the Bulgarian minister will exercise the powers of a regency.

THE DAY'S GRIST FROM THE STATE POLITICAL MILL

MAY RUN FOR GOVERNOR, STATES BURWELL HERE

Speaker of the House W. H. Burwell, of Hancock county, was in Atlanta Tuesday night, having attended court yesterday at Fairburn.

While Mr. Burwell was reluctant to discuss the report that he might become a candidate for governor in the present race, he admitted that many of his friends had asked him to run, and he stated that he might think of the matter seriously later on.

With Mr. Burwell was State Senator John D. Walker, of Sparta, who also attended court at Fairburn yesterday. Both were registered at the Ansley hotel.

PROSPECTS OF "J'INT 'SPUTE" AROUSES STATEHOUSE INTEREST

The assertion of Governor Harris, in his speech Monday night, that he is willing to meet Dr. L. G. Hardman, of Commerce, his gubernatorial opponent, upon the hustings anywhere any time he might set, has aroused a great deal of interest in official and political circles in Atlanta. Not in a number of years has the old-time method of threshing out the matter before the people in joint debate been in prospect in a governor's race. Governor Harris is undoubtedly willing to meet Dr. Hardman in debate should there arise an issue in the campaign. At present, however, it does not appear what would be the burning topic for discussion. So far as the issues have been presented of state-wide interest, so far the principal question would seem to be merely whether or not Governor Harris will be elected for a second term.

Dr. Hardman, in his statement announcing his candidacy, threw down no broad principal which it appears Governor Harris will be likely to take issue. Nor, on the other hand, has the governor so far indicated any policy which Dr. Hardman would be likely to condemn.

Governor Harris stated on his return from Macon that not only would he meet Dr. Hardman in debate if the occasion arose, but that he was willing to meet him in any sort of a physical endurance contest that he might name.

"I can ride or walk as far in a day as Dr. Hardman can and I can do as much hard work as Dr. Hardman can," said Governor Harris. "I am physically able to take care of the duties of the governor's office, and I will not let the report be circulated to the contrary without refuting it. I never felt stronger or better in my life, and I am tired of this talk about my being in bad health. Despite whatever may be said, I have every reason to suspect that the old boy will live for quite a spell yet, and do well while he's living!"

TOM WATSON TO RUN FOR CONGRESS IN THE TENTH?

There has been in Atlanta for several days the persistent rumor that Thomas E. Watson, of Thomson, Ga., will be a candidate for congress against Congressman Carl Vinson, in the tenth district. From Mr. Watson himself has come no verification.

The Augusta Chronicle, of Tuesday morning, however, predicts that Mr. Watson will likely announce himself a candidate for congress next Saturday, when he is to deliver an address before a farmers' union meeting, at Thomson. The Chronicle asserts that it has every reason to believe that this is the plan at present and that if it does not pan out the plans will have been changed in the meantime.

J. Z. FOSTER MAY RUN FOR BLUE RIDGE CIRCUIT JUDGE

Visitors in Atlanta from north Georgia Tuesday brought the report that Colonel J. Z. Foster, of the Blue Ridge superior court, is seriously considering offering for the judgeship of his circuit. Although there has been talk of a number of men who might become candidates for the place now held by Judge "Snacks" Patterson, the name of Colonel Foster had not before been mentioned.

THREE OUT FOR LEGISLATURE FROM THOMAS COUNTY

Thomasville, Ga., February 8.—(Special.)—T. C. Beverly, of Ochlocknee is being put forward by his friends as a candidate for the legislature from Thomas at the coming election. James Burch, of this city, has already announced for the position, and J. A. Bowers, of Meigs, present member, is a candidate for re-elecion, it is understood, though he has not yet announced. Boston is wanting to get in the game this time, too, and it is said will put out a candidate.

WILL URGE GUNBY JORDAN TO ENTER GOVERNOR'S RACE

Columbus, Ga., February 8.—(Special.)—In a meeting of business men here today it was decided to have a committee of Columbus business men, augmented by men from different cities over the state, wait on G. Gunby Jordan and urge him to enter the race for governor. Mr. Jordan has been approached by a large number of men, and has received letters from all over the state regarding entering the race, but to all he has replied that he is too busy. The Columbus business men believe that with the proper pressure they can get him in the race. At the present Mr. Jordan is in New York on business.

G. D. PERRY MAY OPPOSE TRIBBLE FOR CONGRESS

Madison, Ga., February 8.—((Special.) It is strongly rumored in Morgan that Hon. G. D. Perry, former state senator from the twenty-eighth district, will oppose S. J. Tribble, of Clarke county, and Tom Brown, of Elberton, who are now in the race hard at work. Mr. Perry is a successful farmer of this county, a man of broad views, and if he runs will make his appeal for election directly to the farmers. Mr. Tribble will have a strong race, if Mr. Perry runs, in the lower end of the eighth district.

Colonel Percy Middlebrooks, a lawyer of this city and member of the state democratic executive committee, is opposing Judge Kirby S. Anderson for re-election as city court judge of Morgan. Many other names are mentioned who are apt to run for the county offices of the county.

The county democratic executive committee will meet the first week in March to set a date for Morgan's primary, which will probably he after the registration books close on May 7.

PROVISIONAL DATE NAMED FOR COBB COUNTY PRIMARY

Marietta, Ga., February 8.—(Special.) The county democratic executive committee met at 10 o'clock today. Comer C. Baker was elected chairman. A county primary was ordered for May 5 unless a presidential primary is called, in which case the county primary is to be held on the same date.

Few candidates have announced for office in Cobb county up to this time.

J. N. Sutherland, Douglasville.

Mr. Sutherland had lived here the past five years and had a large circle of friends. He is survived by three daughters and one son. The funeral and interment will occur at Belton, S. C.

Joseph Smith.

Joseph Smith, 75 years of age, died at his home on Covington road, five miles from Decatur, Tuesday morning. Mr. Smith was the father of R. F. Smith, representative in the legislature from DeKalb county. He is survived by his wife, his son, R. F. Smith; two daughters, Mrs. A. M. Hollingsworth and Miss Fannie Smith, and several grandchildren. He was a confederate veteran, a member of Cobb's legion, and had lived in DeKalb county all his life.

ANTI-BRITISH BLAST SOUNDED BY IRISHMEN

New York, February 8.—A call for a national convention of "men and women of the Irish race in America" to "make known to the world that Ireland has not been and cannot be absorbed into England," was issued here today over the signatures of 500 men of Irish lineage of prominence in different parts of the country. The convention is to be held here March 4 and 5.

Among the signers are Victor Herbert, president of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick; Joseph McLaughlin, national president of the Ancient Order of Hibernians; T. S. St. John Gaffney, former United States consul at Munich; Ellen Ryman Jolly, national president of the Ladies' auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, and Justice John Goff, of the supreme court of New York.

The announcement declares that Ireland looks forward with hope and confidence to the "complete breakdown of British misrule as the certain outcome of the present war."

"England, with her allies," it declares, "in spite of her boasted supremacy in numbers, in wealth and in territory, has been defeated in every contest where skill and courage and strength have been the weapons and has kept her cause afloat with the neutral world only because of the censorship and cable control through which her weapons of calumny and falsehood have been wielded with the dexterity and success which ripe experience and inherited tendency have given to her."

Among the subjects announced for discussion is "how best to act so that the congress of the nations at the end of the war . . . the legitimate claims of Ireland to separation from England may receive the fullest measure of consideration, and that after ages of long suffering she may again take her place among the nations of the world."

BIG LOBBY IN ACTION, ACCORDING TO MOON

To Prevent Substitution of Space for Weight Pay System in Railway Post.

Washington, February 8.—The charge that "the greatest lobby ever known to the American people" is seeking to prevent the substitution of the space for the weight paying system in the railway postal service was made in the house today by Chairman Moon, of the postoffice committee, in presenting the annual postoffice appropriation bill. He declared the real object of the opposition was to throttle the parcel post service in the interest of express companies whose profits are shared equally by the companies and the railroads.

In urging the establishment of a government guarantee fund, proposed in the bill, the chairman asserted that a combination of surety companies had so manipulated their bonding of government employees as to cause the government to lose "hundreds of thousands of dollars."

Sixteen hours have been set aside for a general debate on the measure, which carries appropriations aggregating about $320,000,000. Its introduction followed the publication in local newspapers of a letter to Speaker Clark from Ralph Peters, chairman of the railway mail committee, alleging that unfair tactics were being used by the postoffice committee in an effort to pass the space payments plan.

Mr. Moon told the house that under the weight system the railroads now are receiving $60,000,000 annually for carrying mails and that $64,000,000 would be allowed them by the proposed space plan. They seek not only an increased rate, he added, but want the weight system retained and the interstate commerce commission given the right to grant them higher rates if it sees fit.

"They have the greatest lobby at work today ever known to the American people," he declared. "Since this bill was passed in the house of representatives (last session) and did not pass the senate, although concurred in by the senate conference committee, there never has been such a propaganda promulgated among a civilized people against a government as these railroads have carried on against this measure. There has been a falsification of every fact that is material for consideration. They have not presented a single fact in justification of the charge that this law ought not be changed, not a single one."

DENMARK TO EXPORT RABBITS TO GERMANY

Stockholm, February 8.—(Via London.)—The Aftonbladet says that Denmark is planning an extensive exportation of rabbits to Germany. Rabbit breeding has commenced throughout Sweden.

Wilson to Attend Banquet.

Washington, February 8.—President Wilson today accepted an invitation to attend a banquet of the department of the Potomac, Grand Army of the Republic, here Thursday night. He will speak the same night at the annual dinner of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Maternity! The Word of Words

It is written into life's expectations that motherhood is the one sublime accomplishment. And if there is anything, no matter how simple, how apparently trivial it may seem, if it can aid, help, assist or in any way comfort the expectant mother, it is a blessing. And such is a remedy called "Mother's Friend." You apply it over the stomach muscles. It is gently rubbed on the surface, and makes the muscles pliant; this relieves the strain on ligaments, natural expansion takes place without undue effect upon the nerves. And as the time approaches, the mind has gone through a period of repose, of gentle expectancy, and this has an unquestioned influence upon the future child. That this is true is evidenced by the fact that three generations of mothers have used and recommended "Mother's Friend." Ask your nearest druggist for a bottle of this splendid remedy. He will get it for you. And then write to Bradfield Regulator Co., 407 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a most interesting book of information to prospective mothers. It is mailed free. Write today. It is a book you will enjoy.

We Now Offer

1. A good Fourth Ward renting property, located on an improved street, and renting well.
2. A bungalow in Ansley Park, one of the newest types, at a reasonable price.
3. An Inman Park residence that has the value—a $6,500 place, well located.
